

CRIBBAGE WORLD

ELECTION OBSERVATIONS

For those of you who enjoy facts and figures:

1. The voting response was approximately 2½ times greater than any past election.
2. The election committee recorded the postmarks of returned ballot envelopes in order to determine voter response by region. Of all envelopes returned, 33.9% came from the east, 37.8% from the mid-west, and 28.3% from the western region.
3. 40.6% of all members voted compared to a high of 16% in the past.
4. The two new members voted to the Board of Directors were Shirley Fitzpatrick and Joan Rein; 5 women now serve on the Board.
5. Newly elected members of the Board of Directors will officially assume responsibility September 1, 1986. They are invited to attend the Board of Directors meeting in Raleigh, NC, on July 26 at 11 a.m. as non-voting observers.

LETTERS TO CRIBBAGE WORLD

A few comments on ideas I have to enable the ACC Board of Directors to be a more effective group in the future.

I feel the size of the Board should be decreased in a step-ladder approach. I would propose to cut down the board size by 3 each year to a size of 15 or so. That number would be very workable for meetings. I truly believe smaller groups can accomplish more in less time. Huge corporations have smaller Boards of Directors than the ACC does.

Additionally, I think to a degree there should be some regionalization. One of the meetings each year could be held on a regional basis, allowing the 5 or 6 directors from each area to discuss matters unique to them (tournament scheduling, formats, etc.). Each region could have an officer, and the leaders could communicate the key points from each regional meeting before the national meetings are held.

It might even be suggested that voting for Directors be done on a regional basis. Who knows better one's qualifications than those within the region? Do the Oregon members know the leadership abilities of a Florida member? These are issues to consider and talk about. Regional voting might also increase voter participation. Hopefully, this year the percentage vote will be higher.

Thanks very much, Dale, for all your effort in putting the Cribbage World together.

CRIBBAGE CORNER

Dan Barlow

When the game is nearly over, it's vital that you examine your position before making a play. Suppose you are two holes from winning. You deal and save

6-7-8-9

Your opponent leads an Ace. If your opponent is three holes from going out, you would probably play your 6 or your 8, knowing that if he scores a 15-2, you have the card for a run of three, winning the game. The one card you would avoid playing is the 7, as this could give him 15 for 4 and the game. Now change the position by one hole. This time your opponent is two holes from winning, instead of three. Now the 7 is by far your BEST play. If you play the 7, he can peg only with another 7, and there are only three of them left in the deck. If you play anything else but the 7, there are three cards with which he can pair you, and at least three with which he can score a 15-2. He'll peg those two holes at least twice as often if you play a card other than the 7!

REPORTING 28s & 29s

The Grass Roots Clubs now have an official form on which to report the good luck of holding one of these high scoring hands entitling the person to a certificate.

The player, the opponent, and the director sign the form, which is then forwarded to Secretary Bob Madsen. It has been suggested to Tournament Commissioner Syl Lulinsky that he draw up a similar form for use at major tournaments.

WE GOOFED!!

Approximately 50 CRIBBAGE WORLDS were mailed out last month that were badly collated. The pages were all there, but they were in the wrong places. By the time we discovered the problem, we had over 2,000 CRIBBAGE WORLDS labeled and it was impossible to retrieve the bad ones.

Our apology to those members who received one of the dogs.

THE PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

Joseph Petrus Wergin

LAS VEGAS CALL FOR INFORMATION

A late-night caller from a casino wanted to know the odds on holding a 29-point hand. I always thought that one of their main functions was to determine the odds.

My source of information lists the odds as 649,740 to 1. But I recall that back several years, someone reported that his computer disagreed with that figure.

Will you computer mathematicians address this problem and give me your findings?

The caller also wanted the odds on receiving a 28-pointer. One estimate that I have before me is about 15,000 to 1. I think that figure needs a little computer time, also.

AUSTRALIANS VISIT MADISON CLUB

Two high school teachers (a married couple) from down under were visiting the wife's father in Edgerton, WI, so he brought them along to play in the Grass Roots Club.

The couple from Yarrawonga, which is north of Melbourne, reported that organized cribbage is unknown to them, but they really enjoyed the tournament format which we use. The woman's father, Larry Foster, drives at least 60 miles every Thursday evening to play in the Madison #1 Crib Club.

As cribbage was invented in England, all English speaking countries know how to play.

AUGUST CRIBBAGE WORLD A FEW DAYS LATE

Bob Plourde and I will be heading out to Raleigh on July 26 at about the time of the month we'd normally be dropping off the August CRIBBAGE WORLD at the printers. Since there are always some good news items coming out of this tournament, we'd like to hold a page or so open. If we wait until September, all the July news will be stale.

Hope to see many of you there; say "hello" if you get a chance.

THE ELECTION COMMITTEE

The election committee, consisting of Rich Marringier, Don Tofte and Dan Weir, began in April to establish a new ballot and an improved system for the ACC membership to cast ballots. Many hours were spent by these individuals. A crew of family and friends volunteered to send out ballots and finally to accumulate and count almost 11,000 individual names from 1,526 returns. The integrity of each ballot was honored, and all those who served deserve a great deal of credit and thanks.

Any person joining the ACC after July 1, 1986, will be a paid-up member through August 1987. It would be unfair to collect a full year's dues in July and bill again when our fiscal year begins in September. CRIBBAGE WORLD will be sent for the 14-month period.

News from Fort Walton Beach, Florida

Doug Shea collected an unofficial 29 hand on May 22 while playing his brother Dave. Doug had previously drawn an official 28 hand at Kissimmee.

Doug's father, Jim Shea, has been playing cribbage for over fifty years and has yet to draw one of these gems.

I'll keep trying,

IN THE FUTURE

In upcoming issues we'll print the National Open results, the Grand National (upcoming in September), more on Cribadier Generals, a list of the new Board of Directors members (their addresses and phone numbers), a feature on Sam Torre, and what's new with the Million Dollar Cribbage Tournament.

CRIBBAGE WORLD EXPENSES

It may be of interest to some of the membership to know the cost of "putting together" CRIBBAGE WORLD each month.

|                        |              |
|------------------------|--------------|
| Word Processing        | .03 per copy |
| $110 per month        |              |
| Printing               | .16 per copy |
| $565 per month        |              |
| Mailing                | .22 per copy |
| $678 per month        |              |
| Average cost per month | $1,353      |

We're giving serious thought and study to going from first class to second class mailing. Second class mailing is a newspaper and magazine rate, and the difference in mailing time is negligible. We may or may not be eligible, and I've submitted a copy of CRIBBAGE WORLD to the Postal Service for its opinion prior to filling out a very detailed application. Our annual costs will exceed $16,000, and we'll be making every effort to cut costs wherever we can.

A TEAM CRIBBAGE TOURNAMENT

Twenty-five ACC members played the first ever team cribbage tournament held in Connecticut last month. The host Connecticut team, led by Dick Clukey of Thomaston, CT, with a 14 and 6 record, finished first with a score of 56 wins and 44 losses. John Chambers of the Rhode Island B squad also had a 14 and 6 record, as his team tied for second (winning 52 and losing 48) with the team from Massachusetts.

The Rhode Island A team finished at 47 and 53, while Maine trailed with a record of 43 wins and 57 losses. The Maine team was trapped in the dead hole a shattering 12 times for the worst luck of the century thus far!!

Any ACC members interested in a team concept or information on the 1987 tournament, contact:

MASTER POINT PARADE INFO

A few new members have been successful at local tournaments and have been fortunate enough to accumulate several hundred master points. If you're concerned why you don't show up in the master point results on pages 10-11, it's because of a lag time in getting the membership list to our statistician, Bob McCabe. Bob Madsen, our secretary, asks for your patience; you'll be on the list shortly.
