

President's Column

by David Campbell

Time flies like an arrow.

Fruit flies like a banana.

—Groucho Marx

Welcome to 2019, everyone. Whether your goals in cribbage are becoming All American or earning your Bronze Award this year, I hope you are successful. The quote of the month has no meaning other than I like it and hope you find the humor in it also.

It is that time of the year where many of us plan our trip to Reno and have thoughts of winning the biggest tournament held anywhere in the world. Is this your time this year? Last year around this time of the year Lynn Multari and Greg Dumas started planning their trips to Reno and came home winners of the JPW Open and TOC. Can you do it this year?

Reno is always one of my favorite tournaments of the year, and I look forward to catching up with old and new friends upon arrival there. This year I offer anyone this challenge: if you see me in Reno come up and say hello and share the above quote and I will hand you a quarter. This is sort of a test to see how many of you are reading CW and/or this column, but it will be fun.

The people who do all the work running tournaments and everything else needed in Reno are the true heroes, so make sure you thank any and all of them you see. If you would like to help with set up or handing out scorecards or in any way let me know, and I will make sure something is found for you.

Also, for the people who have emailed volunteering to help the ACC I have not forgotten you; I have been away for the last month. Lana Newhouse had shoulder surgery, and I spent most of the last month attempting to help her with her recovery. Probably not to her satisfaction but I did my best most of the time.

In closing, please stop by the BOD meeting on Thursday to hear what is going on with your association. In the next few weeks the BOD agenda will be posted in our Facebook group. See a lot of you very soon in Reno. CW

Wanna see how your friends did at a tourney you didn't attend? Go to americancribbagecongress.challenge.com to see 600+ playoff brackets that our many volunteers have created.