STU STROMBERG WINS INVITATIONAL HARRY PALMER TOPS ACC OPEN

What would be the odds of two cribbage players from the same city, both belonging to the same Grass Roots club, travelling 3,000 miles to Reno and each picking up first place in the top two events of the weekend? Long, long odds!!!

Harry Palmer and Stu Stromberg, both of West Springfield, Massachusetts, and both members of Hartford Metro Club #26, took top honors in Reno during the weekend of February 5-7, 1988. Palmer topped a record-smashing field of 648 players and defeated Norb Kniech of Brown Deer, Wisconsin, at the Sands Regent Hotel and Casino in the ACC/ Open. Palmer picked up 648 Master Points to add to the 526 he had previously acquired since September.

Rich Terry of Kingsley, Iowa, finished by narrowly defeating Browning of Sacramento, California.

Stromberg had his usual great flight Reno from the snowy East and decided that rather than lose momentum, he wouldn't sleep before the Invitational. It wasn't a pretty sight, but he held out long enough to get hot cards in the seventh game and edge out Omer Bolduc of Salinas, California. Gruber of Minneapolis, Minnesota, took third place, and Bob Morganti of Newman, California, finished fourth. No Master Points are awarded to any of the 232 players who participated in the Invitational Tournament of Champions.

A great deal of credit and thanks must go to Joan Rein, Syl Lulinski, and Bob Madsen for two well-orchestrated and organized tournaments, plus two very large consolation events. Joan, Bob and Syl expressed their appreciation to the dozens of volunteers who assisted throughout the weekend.

The Sands Regent Hotel, represented by Barbara Woodward and staff, left no stone unturned in their efforts to make this a most enjoyable weekend for all the tournament participants and quests.

tions for the ACC Board of Directors. Since this is an even year, there will be 12 members elected to the Board (there are 13 candidates running in odd-numbered years). However, since part of the reorganization recent of the included holding elections every two ars (with the entire 25 members of the BOD running for election at one time). the Directors running in 1988 will serve only a one-year term. The terms of all BOD members will therefore expire at the end of cribbage year 1988-89.

President/Policy Ev Bey Vice selected three Directors, one from each region (none are up for re-election this year); Liz Brandon, Oregon; Al Dinwoodie, Rhode Island; and Bob Julian. Wisconsin.

Directors whose two-year terms expire in 1988 are:

- Nominations are open for the 1988 elec- 1. It is expensive to be a member of the BOD. Members are expected to attend (if possible) all three Board meetings each year. All are expected to travel at their own expense to Raleigh, Reno and the site of the Grand National (Milwaukee in
 - There is now an attendance requirement. At the last BOD meeting in Reno (2/88), it was voted that any member who is absent from 50% or more of the meetings (beginning with cribbage year 1989) without a valid reason will have the remainder of his/her term filled by a Presidential appointment.
 - As the ACC continues to grow, it is expected that the members of the BOD will contribute their time working on the various opportunities and problems confronting the ACC. This means that BOD members will be expected to volunteer for committee work and will seek and provide input on a continuing basis. Many BOD members devote a significant amount of time every week working on ACC matters.

To be considered for election, potential nominees must do the following:

- 1. Submit your name, address, telephone number on a standard sheet of paper containing the signatures and ACC numbers of at least five members in good standing.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN NEWS

Dick Graham reports that 78 players attended the 10th Annual Rocky Mountain Cribbage Championship. 44 stayed and played in the Consolation Tournament, while playoffs went on for the Singles Championship. On Sunday there were 60 players (30 teams) in the Pairs Championship. Interestingly, there were no 28-hands in either the Singles or the Consolation, but two in the Pairs, when only five cards are dealt!

Ed Hambek of Lakewood came up the ladder from 10th qualifier to beat the top qualifier, Don Mees of Denver, for the Singles title. He got a trophy board plus possession of the Jack Gardner Memorial Trophy for 1988. Ken Ehrich of Morrison nosed out Bob Rosenberg of Boulder for the third spot. The Consolation champion was Miles McMillan of Colorado Springs, beating Reef Paine of Denver, and the Pairs champions were Gloria Lamb of Denver, teamed with Roger Wilson of Boulder, over Blecker and Brad Peterson.

LETTERS TO CRIBBAGE WORLD

A friend of mine, Larry Danbonm, an avid cribbage player, sent me a copy of the following, nonplayer's description of the grand old game of cribbage written by a Charles McDowell, Jr., an uninitiated player.

Upon reading this, from both the view of a nonplayer and from a player, I thought it was a very witty description and one t would be appreciated by our memars. I tried to recall the first time that I saw cribbage played, and I sympathized with Mr. McDowell. If you have the space, you may wish to use it in a future issue of CRIBBAGE WORLD.

really enjoy reading CRIBBAGE WORLD and wish to take this means of thanking you for what I know is a lot of effort in writing and publishing it. Keep on pegging.

> Jack H. Corbett Wilmington, NC

Charles McDowell, Jr.

Fifteen-two, fifteen-four and ...

1960s)

Hoyle and the Encyclopedia Brittanica and all the other authorities agree that a man named Sir John Suckling invented the card game called cribbage some time between 1609 and 1642. Nobody even pretends to know why.

But I have a theory. My thory is that Sir John invented cribbage so everyone who didn't know how to play would feel inferior in the presence of those who did, presumably Sir John and a few selected fellows at the club.

bbage is still a sort of secret society, of ritual, mumbo-jumbo passwords, magic numbers, arbitrary rules, and thinly veiled snobbery toward nonplayers. The object of the game is to impress the kibitzers. (All this, of course, applies to cribbage as it is played n a semipublic way in clubs, parlor cars, locker rooms, lounges, and all-night restaurants. Played in the privacy of the home, the object of the game is to point out errors in your wife's scoring.)

The best players are those who can simultaneously intrigue, confuse madden any nonplayers who are watching. The truly great players are those who succeed in baiting a kibitzer into asking to be taught to play and finally condescend to teach him at a quarter a game and a penny a point, and double for lurches or skunks, whatever they are.

From the point of view of a kibitzer, I think I can give you an idea of how a typical two-handed game goes. The two players are sitting there with a deck of cards and a cribbage board, which has rows of little holes in it and pegs in a few of the holes. They are laying down cards alternately.

"Four," says the first player, laying down a four.

"Eight for two," says the second player, also laying down a four, and he moves a white peg two spaces on the board.

"Fifteen for two," says the first player, (Probably written in the 1950s or early laying down a seven and moving a red peq two spaces.

> "Eighteen," says the second player, producing a three, but he doesn't move a peg, perhaps because he doesn't feel like

> "Twenty-eight," says the first player, laying down a queen, and he has given up the pegs too.

> "Thirty," says the second player, playing a two.

> "Go!" says the first player, and the second player moves a peq.

> "Twenty-three skidoo," says the kibitzer, but nobody laughs.

> It makes no sense, but it goes like that until each player has laid down all four cards in his hand. Then, instead of dealing again right away, they retrieve their cards, spread them face up, and begin jabbering at each other again.

> "A pair is two and his nobs is three," says the first player, moving one of his pegs slightly. Continued on page

MASTER POINT PARADE

HOW MASTER POINTS ARE EARNED:

TOURNAMENT MUST BE SANCTIONED BY THE AMERICAN CRIBBAGE CONGRESS.

Qualifying Round: Top 1/8 earns one-quarter points, i.e., 100 players, top qualifier earns 25 points, 2nd earns 23, etc.

Main Tournament: Top 1/8 earns full points, i.e., 100 players, champion earns 100 points, 2nd earns 92, 3rd earns 84, etc. If 40 or more players, BONUS POINTS are earned: 1st earns 40 bonus points, 2nd earns 20, 3rd earns 10 and 4th earns 5. In this example, No. 1 earns 140 points (100 + 40).

Consolation Tournament: Top 1/8 earns one-half points, i.e., 64 players, 1st earns 32 points, 2nd earns 28 points, 3rd earns 24 points, etc. BONUS POINTS are earned: 1st earns 20 bonus points, 2nd earns 10 points, 3rd earns 5 points and 4th earns 3 points. In this example, No. 1 earns 52 points (32 + 20).

"Fifteen-two, fifteen-four and eight's a dozen," says the second player, moving one of his pegs quite a distance.

"What's all that mean?" asks the kibitzer desperately.

"Two fifteens and a double run. It's simple," the player replies. "I believe you could catch onto this in less than a month."

Then one of them starts "counting the crib," which is still another phase of their mysterious game, and the kibitzer is left wondering why men who can comprehend all this aren't devoting their talents to advanced physics, or decoding secret messages, or confusing somebody as worthwhile as Mr. Khrushschev.

ABERRATIONS

Noel Gould, 77 years young, scored his first 28-hand in a local 7-game match in Missoula, Montana, recently ... and about 25 deals later, scored ANOTHER 28-hand. Talk about aberrations of statistics! And along those same lines, how about Scot Kozlowski of Reno, Nevada? Only FOUR 29-hands have been scored this cribbage year ... and he has TWO!

DeLynn Colvert Missoula, MT

THOUGHTS ON MUGGINS

To mug or not to mug, that is the question. Whether 'tis nobler ...

At any cribbage tournament, stand back and look at the heads of the seated players, You see white hair, gray hair, and bald pates. And it's the same whether there are 40 players or 400. Let's face it -- we as a group are getting older. Of course, there's a scattering young folks, and that's good. But it's good enough. We must have an influx of new players, whatever their ages. And then we must retain these new players in order to ensure the growth, if not the survival, of our wonderful game of cribbage.

Muggins was in effect at the invitational Tournament of Champions at Reno, and properly so. But you can play all day long in that tournament and never hear muggins invoked. Because skilled players seldom get mugged.

Aside from the Tournament of Champions, muggins is a tool that allows skilled players to enhance the advantage of their skill and thus to more efficiently dominate and defeat the newcomer and the less-skilled players. They might find themselves without the many less-skilled opponents that presently make up a tournament. Purses and Master Points then would be drastically reduced.

Muggins is fine for the Tournament of Champions. And it is a good way to "spice up" a match between skilled players. But it is, by far, the most effective way to discourage or "turn off" a new player. He/she has enough problems.

By following a "no muggins" format in our tournaments, let's try to keep new-comers returning so that they, become "skilled" players.

Ken Cambell Modoc, SC

The Master Points listed in the Tournament Results are correct to the best of our knowledge. The final authority accuracy of both the names and points rests with Statistician Bob McCabe and Tournament Commissioner Syl Lulinski.

LETTERS TO CRIBBAGE WORLD

TIDBITS FROM RENO

At the Consolation on Sunday -- 394 players, seated by blind draw. Let's see you beat this story. I sat at the last table, with only 10 players (one game vs. each player) and who drew this table? Only the No. 1, 4, 7, 9 and 35 all-time players (Michaelis, Colvert, Fabian, Toll and Samet). Four were All-Americans at year ... and the other five players weren't exactly slouches, either. Wow, I was lucky to get out of that match with my shirt on. Anyway, it was a pleasure to play so many fine players. This cribbage is getting tougher all the time.

DeLynn Colvert Missoula, MT

LETTERS TO CRIBBAGE WORLD

Our cribbage club meets the 2nd, 4th and 5th Monday each month, and I thought it a bit unusual that we are meeting three times in the shortest month, February 1988. For a bit of trivia, I checked the perpetual calendar; and to my surprise, our next five-Monday February will be 2016. I will be 98 years old then and for various reasons may not be able to attend.

Thanks to Sir John Suckling for inventing this fascinating, sometimes maddening card game that I have been able to enjoy for the past 52 years.

Alvard E. Olson Covina, CA

CRIBBAGE CORNER

PEGGING POINTERS Dan Barlow

You're playing in a major tournament, and you need this game to get into the big money. But the cards haven't been coming your way. You're 32 holes from home, and your opponent needs only 6. You've kissed the game and the tournament goodbye. You've even sent your juse out to the parking lot to warm up the car.

Then you pick up 3-5-5-5-J-K. You save 5-5-5-J. It's not the right Jack; it's hearts, and you have the 5 of hearts. But you've never had a 28 hand. Your heart starts racing. Studies have shown that the average heart rate of a cribbage player rises from 70 to 115 when holding three 5s and a face card. As your opponent cuts the deck, you think, Oh, please, let it be a 5! I'll never ask for another cut as long as I live if I just get this one. Come on! FIVE! FIVE!

You turn over the top card, expecting to see the 8 that you've seen every one of the hundreds of times you've had a shot at 28 or 29. But it's a 5!!! The fourth 5! A TRILLION TO ONE SHOT!! It takes all of your will power to keep from jumping up and screaming, "My first 28 hand! HALLELUJAH!" It dawns on you that you probably won't even get to count this hand, but who cares? You lived to hold the magic cards. It's like holding a $10,000 bill.

The guy sitting across from you leads the 10 of hearts. You score 15-2 with the satisfying knowledge that he can't peg on your 5. His 9 of clubs makes the count 24, and you score a go with your second 5. Now he leads a 7. He hasn't shown 6 ints yet. Maybe you'll get to count hand after all. But not if you choke here. What's your play?

Does it matter which card you play if he needs 11 rather than 6? (Answers appear elsewhere)

Here's another problem. This time you get to count your first 29 hand. Or do you?

Your Hand	Cut
5-5-5-J	5
The Play So Far Her K K (25)	You 5 (15-2) 5 (30-1)

Does it matter what you play and, if so, what DO you play if she needs 9 to win? What if she needs 11? How about 16?

SOLUTIONS

Problem 1

If he needs 6, you play the Jack, of course. He can peg on your Jack only with a Jack and if he has a Jack, he has enough points to go out. If you play the 5 and his last card is a 3, well, you didn't deserve the opportunity to count your 28 hand anyway. If he needs 11 rather than 6, you should play the 5. He can peg on your 5 only with a 6 or a 3. Either way, he won't make it home. But if you play the Jack and his last card is the right Jack, he pegs two for the pair, one for a go, and he has 8 points. Your 28 hand wilts on the vine.

Problem 2

If she needs 9, play the 5. If she can peg on that, she has you beat anyway. You can't let her peg if her last card is a Jack. If she needs 11, play the Jack. You're worried that she has a 3. If she needs 16, play the Jack. The five holes she'll peg with a 6 are just enough to put her out if you play the 5.
