Eastern Region's Granddaddy Tourney

17th Annual

NATIONAL OPEN

Defending Champion: Luis Lizarribar

The 17th Annual National Open, Granddaddy tournament of the Eastern Region, and one of the ACC's most prestigious, will be played once again in Raleigh, NC, July 28, 29, and 30.

This unique tournament is a double elimination, best 4 of 7 matches, with skunks counting two games, and "muggins" allowed.

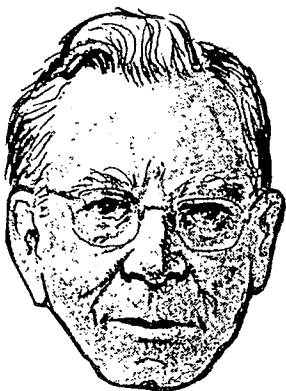

Another unique feature is the quality and space of the playing area. Each match has ample "elbow room," complete with white linen, and is well managed by director Nick Pond.

Attesting to this tournament's popularity is the huge field of 417 peggers who attended last year's meet.

A full weekend of cribbage is scheduled: Championship, Consolation, Loser's Losers, and the Last Roundup, which should give the players ample opportunity to be a winner.

This well organized tourney will be played at the North Raleigh Hilton in Raleigh. See the "Tournament Trail" in the back of this publication for more details.

Entry deadline: July 13, 1990.

The President's Column

Joseph Petrus Wergin

Our WONDERFUL WORLD OF CARDS includes the games that ordinary people play in their local tournaments or card parties. We call them the Grass Roots games.

In between the sessions of the major tournaments, our Knights of the Peg indulge in these other games to relax and to forget the pressures of tournament play.

At the Madison Masters Classic in early May, several members of the Milwaukee contingent--Warren Sondericker, Bob McCabe, Martha Fingleton, along with Joe Bernard of Illinois, and several others-- engaged in a game of gin rummy. If you don't know it, gin is a rival of cribbage for being the most popular two-handed game in America. Gin is a game that requires an excellent memory or a good bank account, while cribbage requires very little memory.

This scribe put a question to the above mentioned players. Why don't we try something big? Why not a cardplayer's OLYMPIC TOURNAMENT. Bob McCabe said: "It sounds good to me. We can call it the OLYMPIC PENTATHALON."

"Great Idea!" interrupted Warren Sondericker. "And be sure you include the game of 'hearts.'"

As we talked about other games to include, it appeared that besides the three games mentioned above, sheephead and euchre be included.

It was mentioned that if players don't know all the five games listed, they have a year to learn them.

The point in promoting something like this is that one game helps another. Cribbage will benefit from the entire arrangement. Now we need help to formulate plans for the Pentathalon of Cards.

About every two years, farmer Ray Wileman makes this column. Ray is probably the best cribbage player in Rock County, Wisconsin, and plays weekly at the Madison #1 Metro Club.

His latest accomplishment is the nine-for-nine series plus 216 spread points that he posted in a recent session. Ray is still farming and specializing in beef cattle. Incidentally, he received his early training while attending Edgerton High School. And he became a star end on the football team as a result of the great coaching that he received from this columnist. He is also being schooled every Thursday evening when he tries to win a game from the coach. Good thing for Ray that on the nine-for-nine night, they were on different tables.

The Grass Roots season ends June 30th and local directors are urged to send their reports promptly to headquarters. When one person, who volunteered, delays doing a job on time, the whole system suffers. So, you-all, get on the ball!

Madison Players are going to the dogs! With the opening of the first dog track in the state, the local Grass Rooters are headed to Wisconsin Dells Dog Track. Metro#1 has enough funds in the treasury to charter a bus, treat the members to a meal, and pay the entrance fee. Members are permitted to bring a spouse or a guest along to the party.

Mason, Stendlund Score 29's Kooistra Wins Masters Classic

With a record setting crowd of 188 peggers, Scott Kooistra, Yankton, SD captured the Masters Classics in Madison, WI. Scott nosed out Barbara Moritz in the deciding game. Barb hails from West Allis, WI.

With this win, Scott roared into the lead for this year's Master Point honors. His total to date (1,615) is some 300 points ahead of second place Gary Motley, Gresham, OR.

Kelli Mason, a new ACC member playing in her first tournament, had the thrill of a lifetime by holding a 29 hand. Kelli's father, Dave Niehoff, is a past winner of this meet. A second 29 hand was held by University of Wisconsin student, Don Stendlund.

Director Gaylord Matti was elated with the turnout, and stated the Madison club has recruited 40 new members during the last two years and another 26 via the Masters Classic. Director Matti says the local club has some exciting plans for the 1991 meet (to be released in Cribbage World soon).

Todd Anderson has 16th 28-hand Oops! ACC Open Had 16 28-hands

Our May issue stated that the ACC Open in Reno had a record 15 28-hands. A phone call from Todd Anderson, Portland, OR, increased the total to 16. So, if any of the 15 players reported this to the Guinness Book of Records...please send a correction.

Jay DeJaynes Tarheel Champ

Fayetteville pegger Jay DeJaynes captured the North Carolina Open by besting Henry Douglass, Reidsville, NC in a tough final. Jeff Raynes, Raleigh, NC, was 3rd, followed by LaRue Lanier, Jacksonville, NC.

This tournament drew 84 tough peggers to Southern Pines, NC. The consolation (44 players) was won by William Bright, Virginia Beach, VA, besting Bob Moore, Reidsville, NC.

Two 29's Within 5 Minutes!

In the "early bird" of the recent Hawkeye Classic, played in Des Moines, Iowa, TWO 29 HANDS WERE SCORED WITHIN 5 MINUTES! The first was scored by Kay Griffin, Des Moines, and the second by Lew Foss of Minneapolis.

Kay and Lew are just a little too fast on the draw. The next day these perfect hands would have been worth a cool $100! And membership in our ACC's exclusive "29 Club."

Marinette, WI, Pegger Robert Mick Michaelis Earns Life Master

Robert Mick Michaelis, Marinette, WI, became the third player to earn Life Master on April 22, 1990. Mick reached this 6,000 Master Rating Point plateau by finishing 7th in a record-breaking field of 188 players at the Masters Classic in Madison, WI.

Mick is a perennial winner, having earned All-American honors five times, and was the national champion in 1984. In addition, Mick finished the 1989 season as the number one lifetime scoring leader with 5,555 MRPs...not a bad number for a cribbage player!

Mick is also director of the annual Tri-Cities Open in Marinette, WI. In this year's meet, he finished 2nd in a field of 152, earning 164 MRPs, and combined with the 140 MRPs earned in Madison, pushed him over the magic 6,000 mark.

Qualifying Round Oddities

In the qualifying round of the Point Classic I, Stevens Point, WI, Patrick Barrett, director, reports a couple of oddities:

Arlene Barrett, Wisconsin Rapids, WI, had a hot match with Marsha Henderson, Forestville, WI. The first hand of the game Marsha holds JJJk and cuts a jack. The next hand Arlene holds 8886 and cuts an 8. The next hand Marsha holds 4445 and cuts a 4. Wow! Three "case" card cuts in a row!

Now it's Patrick Barrett's turn. Patrick is the director and he picks on his poor wife. The last 4 deals he counts 16 each time. That finishes off his wife, then in the next game, his first hand is another 16. Five in a row! Directors should be a little more discreet. But no, he goes on to win his own tournament!

ACC Warhorse Dale Munroe Earns Master Rating

Dale Munroe, Cribbage World's editor for the past five years, and a real workhorse for the American Cribbage Congress, recently earned his 2,000 Master Rating Points and became the ACC's 51st Master player.

Dale Munroe, Bob Plourde, and their staff in Connecticut, certainly deserve a pat on the back from all the members of the American Cribbage Congress for their work in preparing and mailing Cribbage World for the past five years or so. After getting this issue to the printer (our 4th in Montana), our Montana crew knows what a workout it is to organize, write, typeset, layout, print, label, and mail this publication. Dale and Bob were working full time, with CW as "extra" duty. I am simply amazed! I doff my cap! ...and congratulations to our new Master player!

Unbeatable Pegging Mark Set in Nyssa, Oregon

In the small farming town of Nyssa, Oregon, on the banks of the Snake River, a pegging mark was set May 20, 1990 that is unbeatable!

Michelle Park, Buhl, Idaho, dealt Betty Capper, Hermiston, OR, four dueces...and she dealt herself four aces. The pegging was as follows: 2-3-5-6-8-9-11-12...and a "go" for a single point for Michelle. The final total of 12 will stand unchallenged (without a misplayed crib discard) hereafter (but perhaps tied).

However, wouldn't this have been much more exciting if these two players held 1-1-2-2 each? Then the final pegging score would probably be 29 to 12 in favor of the dealer.

Western Region 1993 Grand National

Anyone wishing to act as a representative of the host city for the September 1993 ACC Grand National in the Western Region must present a proposal (in person) at either of the remaining 1990 Board of Director's meetings. Those meetings are scheduled in Raleigh, NC, on July 27 and in Des Moines, Iowa on September 21.

The following two proposals have been presented to the ACC:

Portland, Oregon (Pat Crozier)
Missoula, Montana (DeLynn Colvert)

Any individual(s) wishing to present a proposal should contact the Executive Vice President, Syl Lulinski, who will provide details of the presentation format.

All Black Cribbage World Collector's Item

Old man Murphy and his law struck down the May issue of Cribbage World. Somehow 200 issues disappeared into thin air...so in order to bulk mail to our entire membership without delay, we quickly printed an additional 200 WITHOUT red ink on the cover.

So, you lucky Massachuset's members, you have a collector's item....an all black issue!

Inaugural Crowd of 158 Rollie Heath Wins Oregon Coastal Classic

Co-director Rollie Heath, after mesmerizing the large inaugural crowd of 158 players to sleep with surf, sand, sea gulls, and seaside sunsets, won the Oregon Coastal Classic with a tough win over smooth-pegging Larry Comella, Gresham, OR. Third place was captured by Bruce Wridge, and 4th by Carol Holt. Wridge and Holt are both Portland players.

And in the consolation, another co-director Bernie Nelson almost duplicated Heath's performance in the main event, but veteran pegger Phyllis Dailey, Lake Oswego, OR, denied him first place and he had to settle for 2nd. Harry Kantas, Beaverton, OR, was 3rd, followed by Jim Waldorf, Madras, OR. Jim continues his "hot" scoring for the year with this 4th place finish.

Jim Bailey, Hillsboro, OR, teamed with Neva Richmond, Gresham, OR to win the doubles event (46 teams participated).

Two other co-directors--Jeanne and Roy Hofbauer--reported the event went smooth as clockwork, so much so that 62 players stuck around for a "last chance" crybaby tourney.

Washington Director Willie Evans was on hand, as well as his co-director Jo Evans. Willie won the "High-Roller" event Friday night to insure the Evan's a profitable weekend.

Corvallis, Oregon Pegger Dean Bauman Wins Super Bowl V

Dean Bauman, Corvallis, OR, bested 104 cribbers at the recent Super Bowl V in Santa Maria, CA. Dean outlasted Dennis Bays, Clovis, CA, for the championship. Pam Ehrlich took 3rd, followed by Dale Hicks of West Hills, CA. Pam and her husband Butch are a tough pegging duo from Denver, CO. Butch recently finished near the top in Reno.

Local Pete Paradis was high qualifier, but, alas, as happens so often, lost his first round playoff match.

The consolation was won by Master player Joe Lusignan, Salinas, CA. Joe has a letter in this issue, and judging by his fine play, perhaps there should be an asterisk (*) following his name on the winner's list. John Rakauskas, Westminster, CA, captured 2nd. 3rd and 4th went to locals Ken Johnson and Jake Salomon.

Four 28 hands were scored, but they were overshadowed by a 29 hand, scored by ACC board member Jim Angell, Concord, CA. Jim is excitedly looking forward to receiving his 29-award at the Grand National in Des Moines this coming September.

Preceding Super Bowl V on Friday, April 27, the first ever "live" Regional Grass Roots Championship was played. 66 contestants from 14 Grass Roots clubs from within Region 4 battled it out. Individual honors were taken by:

1. Linda Swiontek, Santa Maria, CA, club #4
2. Jake Salomon, Santa Maria, CA, club #4
3. Larry Good, Monterey, CA, club #82
4. Mary Cornwell, Sunnyvale, CA, club #48

Local club #4 took the team championship and will retain "bragging rights" for the coming year.

These Grass Rooters displayed team spirit, with some wearing club badges, others wearing matching shirts, and others wearing club pins. Director Butch Reynolds says it was enjoyable seeing the players exhibit the pride they have in their Grass Roots clubs. He invites the ACC membership to join a Grass Roots club, or if there is no club in your area, start one.

Hornbecks Clean Up in Hermiston Sylvia Top Qualifier, but Lea Wins Greater Hermiston Open

The Hornbeck duo, Sylvia and Lea, took home all the marbles in the recent Greater Hermiston Open. This Oregon tournament drew a huge crowd of 194 players, and the consolation match drew another 144 players.

Sylvia Hornbeck, Washougal, WA, was the high qualifier, and after she bit the dust, husband Lea took over and won the championship. Wendell Rush, veteran pegger from Baker City, OR, took a strong 2nd, followed by Danella Hartung, Kennewick, WA, with 4th place captured by John Hill, the "Titan" from Missoula, Montana.

Jim Waldorf, Madras, Or, continues his winning ways by snagging the consolation title. Jim finished a strong 4th in the huge ACC Open in Reno, and with this win moves into the 900 Master Point range, giving him a shot at the national title for 1990. Taking 2nd was Tom Buglione, Albany, OR. Two veteran ladies finished 3rd and 4th: Lucille Endicott, Prineville, OR, and Bonnie Starrett, Hermiston, OR.

A unique feature of this tournament was the Saturday night banquet, with a "Calcutta" auctioning off all the top 32 qualifiers. Much fun was had by all. Directors Ken & Betty Capper once again staged a superb tournament.

Gil Johnson Captures Snake River Open

Gil Johnson, Spokane, WA, won the Snake River Open with a 3-0 win over Anita Ertle, Joseph, OR. Gene Sissel finished 3rd after a "hot" qualifying round of 36 game points (winning his first 10 games with 4 skunks). Gene hails from Baker City, OR. In 4th was Bill Becker, Redmond, OR.

Henry Carle, Missoula, MT, waxed his weekend roommate, DeLynn Colvert for the consolation title.

Grand National champion Harvey Honeycutt, Beatty, OR, snapped his slump with a fine 19-point card in 9 games in the Saturday Night Special.

Director Michelle Park and the local Eagles Club gave all 54 players a very hospitable weekend, in this friendly farm town of 2,780.

Play the Exact Game Twice? Don't Bet on it!

How many different ways can an ordinary deck of 52 cards be arranged? Would you believe 80,658,175,170,943,878,571,660,636,856,403,766,975,289,505,440,883,277,824,000,000,000,000 possible permutations! Could this be the reason cribbage (and other card games) are so fascinating? You will never in a hundred lifetimes play the same game twice! Or at least, don't bet on it!

Champagne Camp-out Yankton, South Dakota Hosts Lewis & Clark Classic

Scott Kooistra, current Master Point front runner, invites all ACC peggers to a shootout at the beautiful Yankton Inn in Yankton, SD., July 14 and 15. The weather may be hot outside, but this air-conditioned facility will keep you cool inside. In addition, the Yankton Inn is offering a "Champagne Camp-out" with special rates for the entire weekend at $69.95 (plus tax), complete with a bottle of champagne.

Last year, the prize fund payout was over $11,000, and Scott expects a larger crowd this year. This tournament also features a Friday night "early bird" ($20/9games), a Saturday night special, and a consolation match. This will be your only chance to play a sanctioned tournament in South Dakota this year!

Bill Mitchell Memorial Best Kept Secret On Pacific Coast

The best kept secret in the Western Region is Dan Mitchell's Bill Mitchell Memorial played in Crescent City, CA. Director Mitchell has repeatedly had top cash payoffs, and the ladies auxilliary always prepares an excellent buffet for the players.

In addition to this hospitality, the tournament is played next to the Pacific Ocean, in the quaint resort town of Crescent City, complete with sea gulls, light houses, beachcombing, and salt air!

In addition to the main event, an "early bird" will be played, along with the usual "last chance." Another feature is a 4-person team championship. See "Tournament Trail" in this publication for more details.

Second Thoughts on the 3-point Skunk

After a few sleepless hours thinking about poor old Sir John doing a spin-cycle in his grave, I've done some re-thinking. Your point (by the editor in last month's issue) is well made...the skunk line is there for a purpose, and it does lend a certain amount of excitement to the game. The potential skunker playing for the "kill" and the potential skunkee trying to get across the line to salvage some dignity.

But then...maybe...could it be...that Sir John has other things to "spin" about? From what I've read about him (sources include Colvert's book and Jim Arblaster's "History of the ACC"), he was quite a "rounder", what with all the "gambling, womanizing, loss of fortune, treason, and a possible suicide."

At any rate, I'm sure glad he invented this great and frustrating game of cribbage. And also that the ACC has worked so hard to promote and standardize it. It's given so many of us so much entertainment!

P.S. I still think that the system of 3-2-0 with game points, then games won, then spread points in that order of priority is the best system.

The "Maris Syndrome" In Cribbage (It's time to introduce the *)

In 1961, baseball, like cribbage, the great American pastime, had to resort to the infamous asterisk (*) when Roger Maris hit 61 home runs. Why? Simply because extra games were necessary for him to accomplish the feat of surpassing the immortal Babe Ruth's 1927 record of 60.

Today, I see the hierarchy of Master Points embellished by a few players who have had the opportunity to participate in extra games. While I don't like to use unsupported "statistics", I have nothing else to use. I only hope I'm not too far off base. I visualize about 90% of tournament players, playing and earning the bulk of their Master Points within their own geographical division.

The other ten percent travel the tournament trail all over the United States which results in many more times at bat than the average player. Under the present practice, A Master or Grand Master of the game could be achieved without earning a Master rating within a single division. Average players probably look to a four to six year period of time to reach the "Master" classification. Global players can achieve this or higher in less than half the time.

Is it fair? I don't believe it is. Can the problem be resolved without leaving bad feelings and/or degrading personal accomplishments? I believe it can be done. How? By introducing the asterisk (*) and creating a new division to accommodate this group. In addition to a geographical "home" division, qualified players (those amassing Master Points in two or more divisions) would become members of an "Asterisk Division" wherein their global participation can be documented and achievements recorded. This select and distinguished group of players could still maintain the ardent pursuit and love for the game they currently demonstrate. I'm also sure that the division would accumulate a wide following of many interested and envious "cribbers."

In all fairness, and for more meaningful statistics and records, only Master Points earned within a specific division should be used to determine standings in that area. Without this (*) division, the Championship of the three current divisions, Eastern, Central, and Western, and the selection of the ALL AMERICAN TEAM will be monopolized by the Maris' of cribbage.
