First Rulebook Revision since 2004

New ACC Rulebook

by Herschel Mack

ACC rules undergo changes periodically, mainly due to problems encountered by players and judges in Grass Roots clubs and tournaments. The list below contains changes made in the 2010 rulebook, due to take effect on August 1.

Judges learning these changes will make better judgments, and players learning the changes may avoid having to call for judges.

Here are the changes in the 2010 rulebook (page numbers refer to the new rulebook):

- Four items added to code of ethics (p. 5): (a) communicating about other people's games, (b) allowing backward pegging to continue, (c) using one's position as judge to purposely intimidate, and (d) engaging in forms of discriminatory behavior
- Minor addition to definition of "pegging" (p. 9)
- Deletion of "go" in scoring chart (p. 10)
- Addition to §2.2 clarifying pone's right to mix cards (p. 11)
- Addition to §4.4.d.(4) showing intersection of this rule with §6.1.a (p. 16)
- New §4.5.c and §4.5.d on incomplete decks (p. 18)

See page 17 for instructions on ordering a new rulebook.

My Deal

by David Aiken

Michiganders take their sports seriously. At least our baseball and hockey fans do; football fans are still waiting for the Lions to win the Super Bowl.

The outcry was therefore both justifiable and understandable when Detroit Tigers' pitcher Armando Galarraga was robbed of a perfect game on June 1. First-base umpire Jim Joyce suffered a bout of temporary blindness and called the runner safe with two out in the ninth inning. Instead of being the final and 27th straight out—and making Galarraga the 21st major league pitcher to throw a perfect game—this became, in the words of the New York Times, “the worst call, ever.”

Once Joyce saw the replay, he apologized to Galarraga, but by then the damage was done. The game entered the record books as a one-hit win, Galarraga got a new Corvette instead of a perfect game, and local talk-radio shows finally had a legitimate gripe to complain about.

Like the bumper sticker says, “Sh*t happens.” In life, in baseball, in cribbage.

While cribbage doesn't have umpires who can blow a call as badly as Joyce blew this one, things do happen that are outside of our control.

You need only two points with first count, and you're dealt A-3-6-7-10-K; you throw the face cards into the dealer's crib and cut another King. By time the pegging is over, you've moved only one peg and have a blank hand.

In another game, you need sixteen points to win and hold double run 4-5-5-6. Only problem is, the Jack cut puts the dealer out and you never get to count your hand.

You had a great morning and return from lunch needing just two wins to qualify—and you lose every game.

You finally qualify for the playoffs—after several near misses—only to find that your first-round opponent is Duane Toll, or Wayne Steinmetz, or Larry Phifer.

The lighting is too dim, the heat is too high, nearby players are too noisy, you have to wait five minutes to start each game—the list of things you can't control is endless.

But when bad things happen to good cribbage players, I hope we accept them with the grace and poise that Galarraga displayed. Instead of ranting and raving at the umpire (think Pete Rose and the 1983 pine-tar incident), Galarraga accepted the call with a Zen-like equanimity that is seldom found anywhere, let alone in high-pressure, big-money professional sports.

“Nobody's perfect,” quipped Galarraga. And neither is anyone who plays this crazy game we call cribbage. CW

Cribbage Entropy

I haven't even finished reading your "My Deal" column, but I just can't wait to write you after reading that thermodynamics is a potential topic. It's been awhile since I took chemistry in school, but I believe that one law of thermodynamics is that disorder (entropy) is increasing. Another way of looking at it is the universe is going to h*ll, and so are my cribbage hands. I hope you are now able to write a column about thermodynamics, though I fear with such a vibrant and exciting topic 450 words simply won't be enough. Maybe a three-part series is in our future?

Pay Attention

Players should really be told they need to do the following in order: (1) Pay attention to announcements; when everyone else is quiet, then you should be also. (2) Look for the posted information. (3) Lastly, bother the tournament directors. Your article implies they should do the last first and they don't need to pay attention.

Larry Hassett (Roseburg OR)

Perfect Hand

I've read at a couple places that the perfect hand is 29 (5-5-5-5-J, with the last point coming from the Jack for nobs). Why not have the Jack be the cut, giving 2 points for His Heels? Wouldn't that make the hand worth 30 points? I can't find why this doesn't work.

Wesley Hart (online reader)

Editor's reply: When the dealer gets two points for cutting a Jack, this is considered part of the pegging—not part of the points in the hand. In the same way that other pegging points (15-2 or a run of three or a "go") are not considered to be part of the points in the hand, so also with a cut Jack. The biggest cribbage hand therefore remains a 29-hand.

28-Hands

In the June CW Sean Daniels Sr. and Nat Hammond disagree with my result in the May CW that scoring a 28-hand with 555T+5 is more common than with 5555+T (by a factor of about 2.603—72.24% versus 27.76%). They both made the same mistake; namely, comparing prospects for hands 555T and 5555 presumed already dealt instead of before any cards have been dealt. Sean, for example, says, "If by chance you hold the four 5s in your hand." But the point is that at the beginning of the deal, you don't hold any 5s in your hand. A huge factor in the calculation is that one is much less likely to be dealt the four 5s than to be dealt three 5s and a 10 card! It is for reasons of mathematical probabilities that poker hands are ranked four of a kind, full house, flush, straight, three of a kind, two of a kind. The lower the probability of a holding, the greater its value. My calculations

Tournament Tidbits

Channel Islands Open Good thing Life Master Don Brown (Long Beach CA) was high qualifier and winner of this tourney. On the way home he totaled his Camry (fortunately nobody was hurt). The winner's check made a nice down payment on Don's new Lamborghini Spyder.

Win River Spring Fling Life Master Frank Ornie (Drain OR) had two rare 24-hands on his way to winning the tournament: 4-4-4-4-7 and A-7-7-7-7.

That's a Go! Life Master (★) Alan Schaefer and Grand Master Sharon Schaefer (Jackson WI) teamed up for a one-two punch. Al was the second high qualifier in the main, took second in the Q-pool and side pools, and was second overall in the main event. Meanwhile, Sharon qualified first, took first in the Q-pool and side pools, and won the consolation!

ACC Awards

The last time that Life Master (★★★★★) DeLynn Colvert (Missoula MT) checked his rearview mirror, his closest competition was about 4,200 MRPs behind him and closing at a rate of “only” 637 MRPs each season. At that time, CW predicted that Duane would catch and pass DeLynn in the 2015–2016 season, but given that Duane has out-paced DeLynn by an average of 1,070 MRPs in the last three years, he will likely need less than three years to accomplish this goal. So CW now boldly predicts that Duane will surpass DeLynn’s MRP total at 3:15 p.m. on March 31, 2013, when he takes second place in the Mick Michaelis Classic consolation.

Duane W. Toll
(Sutherlin OR)
Life Master (★★★★★) #2

Duane Toll—the ACC’s #2 MRP accumulator—has now added a fifth star to his impressive cribbage pedigree. He’s won six tournaments this year (bringing him to 61 lifetime) and is only 2,999 MRPs behind DeLynn. A five-time national champion and the MRP record holder (2,662 MRPs, in 2008–2009), Duane joined the ACC in 1986 and credits Hall of Fame honoree Mick Michaelis with being his cribbage mentor. Duane plays Grass Roots cribbage at Timber Capital Club 62 (Roseburg OR), where he has been club champion three times. Mike McDaniels still rates as Duane’s toughest opponent. When not winning cribbage tournaments, Duane enjoys hiking, his grandchildren, and poker.

Darlene joined the ACC in the 1980s after her ex-husband taught her how to play (“I have thanked him,” she says). A member of Club 215 in Chaska, Darlene has also earned her Bronze Award. She learned a lot over the years from Joe Bernard and Mick Michaelis. Favorite tourneys: those at Wisconsin Dells and Cannon Falls MN. First tournament win: against Bob Julian at the Dells in 1993. Toughest opponent: Jerry Gruber. Away from the cribbage table Darlene fills her time with reading, dancing, and having fun with family and friends. She’s happy that her daughter Lori is able to play cribbage tournaments with her.

Darlene Johnson
(Prior Lake MN)
Grand Master #296

Way back in the early 1940s, Bill’s uncle taught him to play cribbage. An ACC member since 1996, Bill has earned his Bronze Award in Grass Roots play at Club 26 (Hartford Metro). His favorite tournament, of course, is the Connecticut Championship, which he codirects. His favorite

Bill Richmond
(Newington CT)

cribbage moment this year was finally beating Carl Deyette, who is Bill’s toughest opponent. Bill enjoys watching the UConn women’s basketball team going undefeated and winning the national championship.

Dollar Bill Cribbage

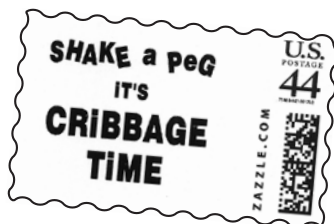

Here are a few midcourse reminders for players sending in dollars for “CW Contest #8: Dollar Bill Cribbage.”

First, don’t forget that you have to count all eight digits in the serial number (ignore the letters). This will, of course, give you a larger than normal cribbage hand.

Second, runs must be as long as possible. For example, serial number 3-4-4-5-5-6-7-9 is a double-double run of 5 (or 24 points plus all of the 15-2 combos). You cannot count this as separate runs (e.g., 3-4-4-5-5 and 4-4-5-5-6 and 5-5-6-7).

Third, don’t ignore the worst cribbage hand. So far all entries have been for the best cribbage hand, but whoever submits the worst cribbage hand also wins a GN 28 baseball cap and a sheet of zazzle.com stamps.

Even if you’re pretty sure that your dollar bill won’t win, send it in anyway. It goes to a great cause—the ACC Youth Program. CW show that in cribbage you will be dealt 5555xx about 55.41 times out of a million. On the other hand, you will be dealt 555yyy about 2,211 times out of a million (where no y is a 5 and at least one y is a T—but not the “right Jack,” which would have you pointed toward a 29-hand). This is about 40 times as often as 5555xx. Whether you end up scoring 28 depends in each case on the cut.

Crib Pointers

by DAVID AIKEN

One reason I'm spending so much time preaching that you should toss the 5 into your own crib is because it's such an important concept.

Another reason is that in last month's column I totally omitted the most important toss (the 5-5) from the list of Ras's best tosses to your own crib. To do justice to both Life Master (★★) Elmer "Ras" Rasmussen (Napavine WA) and to my readers, I am revisiting this idea for the last time. Or at least for a long time.

The general premise is this: the dealer wants to build a strong crib that will add to the points held in the hand. Thus, the dealer usually puts her two best cards into her own crib if she can do so without excessive sacrifice to the potential of her hand. One way to load the crib is to dump a 5—whether an actual 5 card or a "soft" 5 (that is, an A-4 or 2-3 combo).

After analyzing a quarter million cribs,* Ras compiled statistics for the best discards to your own crib (see nearby table). He has categorized the 91 potential discard pairings (without regard to suit) into five basic groups:

1. Since it averages 8.82 points in the crib, the 5-5 stands in a group by itself. Tossing 5-5 into your own crib is worth a sacrifice of up to four points in the hand if you still have the potential to cut the hand back up to twelve points or more.
2. It is acceptable to sacrifice up to two points in the hand to discard any of the pairings in the second group of discards into your own crib. On average, these discards will yield between 6.57 and 7.17 points in the crib.
3. The cards in Ras's third group of discards, which yield on average 5.40 to 6.42 points in the crib, may be tossed into your own crib with a sacrifice of one point in the hand.
4. The fourth group of discards are reasonably good discards to your own crib, but you shouldn't sacrifice any points in the hand to make them.
5. The fifth group (not listed) consists of everything else—the other 61 discard pairings. Make these discards when logic dictates that you hold the points in your hand. Don't break up your hand in these situations just to avoid throwing bad cards (e.g., 6-Q) into your own crib.

Interestingly, it is not until we get to the ninth discard choice (the 7-8) that we find a discard without a 5 in it. This shows the

*Over the course of a decade, Ras recorded empirical data from more than 250,000 cribs in live-action games (not computer or online games). In order to provide accurate numbers, Ras did not include results against markedly inferior players but only against average and above-average tournament and club players, nor did he include the final crib of a game unless it was actually scored on the board, because end-game bias influences what a player throws in the dealer's crib.

In summary, if it's your crib, ask yourself two questions before you discard: (1) Am I staying within the sacrifice limits listed above? (2) Do I still have a potential of twelve or more points in my hand? If the answer to both questions is yes, you're making the correct choice. CW

Q&A Cribbage Quiz

Questions for inclusion in a future Cribbage Quiz may be emailed to cribbage@iserv.net.

This month's question suggested by Emilio Perez (Waukegan IL).

It doesn't happen often, but you can occasionally peg the same number of holes as the count just called. For example, when an Ace is led and paired, the count is 2 and the second player pegs 2. How many other hands can you think of where the pegging and the count are the same number? Hint: some answers contain one point for the "go."

Answer on page 15.

In Memoriam

Calvin Carter

Calvin Carter (Eau Claire WI) passed away on May 26 doing what he loved—fishing, which was second only to cribbage. He was a member of the Chippewa Valley Cribbage Club, where the twinkle in his eye during play never divulged whether he had a 2-hand or a 24-hand. Every April, he provided our club with a fish fry of blue gills and crappies. Cal was a member of Ice Team Power Stick, which competed in ice-fishing contests throughout the world. Just three weeks ago at the Eau Claire Classic, Cal took first place in All Events, which included qualifying second in the main with a 39-card. He took it all in stride—and with a twinkle in his eye. Cal will be sorely missed by cribbage players and fishers alike.

Jean L. Cervantes

Jean Cervantes (Green Bay WI) died May 24 at age 75. In addition to competitive cribbage (she had earned both her Master and Bronze awards), Jean also loved horses and at one time owned two Arabians. She will be missed by her friends in the Green Bay club and on the tournament circuit.

Aubrey L. Cupp

Aubrey Cupp (Sonora CA) passed away unexpectedly on May 23 at the age of 64. He was a member of the Sonora Grass Roots Club 140. An avid cribbage player who seldom missed a Tuesday night tournament, Aubrey was a previous club champion. He often attended tournaments in California, Oregon, and Nevada. Aubrey was a Vietnam veteran, a former card dealer in Reno, and retired from the U.S. postal service. Aubrey always loved to find just the right (funny) birthday card for club members' birthdays. We could count on him every Tuesday to check every person in, collect the money, and hand out the winnings. He had an infectious grin and will be missed by every member and visitor that was honored to know him.

Jack Holt

Jack Holt (Portland OR) was a member of Grass Roots Club 28 for many years, along with his wife Carol, who preceded him in death. They played in many tournaments, mostly in the Western Region. Although Jack had not played in the last few years, he will be remembered as a good player who was kind, humorous, and very interesting. Jack was a school teacher, a principal, and a veteran who served in the 104th Infantry as a member of the Timberwolves during WWII. He had received a purple heart, along with other medals.

Nelson R. Wheaton

Nelson Wheaton (Hamburg NY) passed away suddenly on May 29 at the age of 71. Nelson was a member of Club 5 and the director of the Niagara Falls Open tournaments for many years. He was active as a member of the Hamburg Lions Club and the Hamburg Moose Club. He also was an avid golfer and played in many local leagues. He loved the game of cribbage (he had earned his Bronze Award) and got together with friends quite often to play. Nelson will be sadly missed by his club members, friends, and family.

The President's Column

by Jeanne Hofbauer

Roy and I have just returned from the funeral of a dear cribbage friend. He was a decorated veteran of WWII. Like many veterans, he did not talk about his experiences during the war. So we learned about his valor at the funeral. This experience caused us to think about the many veterans that belong to our organization. Since this column will appear in the July issue of CW, with July being our country's most patriotic month, I want to salute those members who have served or are currently serving in the military.

I know we have many past and present members from World War II, Korea, Vietnam, the ongoing conflicts in the Middle East, and everywhere else in the world where our country maintains a military presence, including here at home. We all appreciate the freedoms we have and take them for granted for the most part. When you hear a story like we did at the funeral, it really brings home to you what they give so that we can enjoy our lifestyle. And having spent several months on a military base during the Vietnam War (Roy was in the army when we married), I learned to abhor war, but to admire, respect, and esteem the warriors.

Some of these members are close friends of mine, others are acquaintances, and still others I have not yet met. Sadly, many are no longer with us. I would like you all to know how much I honor you and appreciate your sacrifices. I ask all members who participate in any ACC activity this month to reach out to you and thank you for your service.

Cribbage Board of the Month

BY JAY FULWIDER

Many of my most beautiful and unique cribbage boards are handmade. Some are made by artists, woodworkers, or metal machinists and are near perfect. Some are very crude. But they are all beautiful in their own way.

Since I have made many boards (three are pictured in fig. 1), I have devised an easy way to make boards, which results in a nice board with very even holes. The following is a “how to” description with photos.

- Tools needed (fig. 2): painter’s tape, pencil eraser, Sharpie pen, and a handheld high-speed drill (i.e., a Dremel drill) with both a sharp pointed conical bit and a drill bit.
- Find a cribbage board that is the size and has the hole pattern that you want to use on the board you are making.

- Place painter’s tape over the cribbage board holes and press on the tape with a rounded pencil eraser until the tape is depressed into the holes (fig. 3).

- Mark the center of the holes with a Sharpie

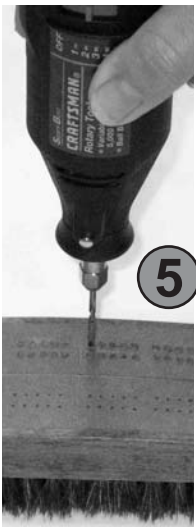

Jay Fulwider collects cribbage boards in picturesque Washington State. Ideas for and questions about this column may be sent to him at budandotis@msn.com (put “Cribbage Board” in the subject line). For more information on cribbage boards and collecting, visit the Cribbage Board Collectors Society website at cbcs.us.

pen. This is easy because the pen will tend to mark the low point of the depression.

- Carefully peel off the tape and place it on the board you are making. This system works well on both flat and curved surfaces.
- Use the drill with a sharp conical bit to drill starter holes on the dots marked on the tape (fig. 4). This is very important because it will help keep your drill bit from slipping out of position when you start the drilling process.

- Select your drill bit size and mark it with tape for the depth you want to drill. At this point, you can drill with the Dremel tool or a small drill press (fig. 5). Be sure that your bit size works for the pegs you will be using.

- Peel off the tape and you are done (fig. 6).

Note: to keep the brush from moving while I worked on it, I placed it on four finishing nails driven into the underside of the board. Sometimes it is helpful to clamp the board while drilling.

Have fun making your own cribbage board, and feel free to email me if you have questions. CW

RULEBOOK ORDERING INFO

The new ACC rulebook goes into effect on August 1, 2010. Copies will be available in July from two sources:

1. The regional tournament commissioners will have rulebooks at all tournaments they attend. (See page 31 for the commissioners' contact info.)

2. All other members should order the rulebook from the ACC Membership Secretary:

Larry Hassett
PMB 5194

1030 W Harvard Ave
Roseburg OR 97471-2923

When ordering by mail, you must prepay: send $1 for each copy ordered.

All judges, club directors, and tournament directors need to make sure they have the new rulebook in hand by August 1.

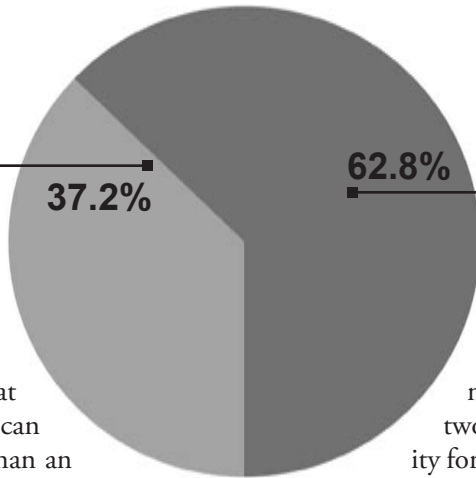

ACC members think that . . .

an offensive mistake is more damaging

37.2%

The results of the May CW Opinion Poll are in—and by nearly a two-to-one margin, ACC members think that a defensive mistake can be more damaging than an offensive mistake. CW suspects a defensive mistake is more damaging that this hesitancy to be too defensive may be attributed to players' memories about losing too many games by one or two points. This proclivity for offense held across all three regions. CW

Michigan Long Match

The sixth Michigan Long Match has a champion: Jerry Adams (Rives Junction MI), who defeated Jim Potter (Caledonia MI) in the finals. Life Master (★) Jeff Shimp (Grand Haven MI) and Al Scarantino (Mount Pleasant MI) rounded out the top four. The next Michigan Long Match will get underway this fall. If you would like to play, contact the director: David Aiken (616.897.8727 or cribbage@iserv.net).

OPINION POLL

Online polls in which ACC members can express their opinion about topics of interest to cribbage players.

Rules: (1) voting must be done online at cribbage.org; (2) you must be an ACC member; (3) you can vote only once per topic; and (4) polling closes on the last day of the month. The results of each poll will be published in the second CW following its announcement.

One-day tournaments are very popular. There were 73 of them in the 2008–2009 season, and 55 so far this year. Would you prefer that one-day tourneys be held on Saturday or Sunday?

GAME ON

Youth Teaching Tip

Visuals are extremely important when teaching cribbage to a large group of kids. I use an oversize cribbage board and a jumbo deck of cards to teach my initial lessons about pegging and counting hands. Both are available online (e.g., 7" x 4" playing cards may be purchased from seriousgameplay.com). Using a big cribbage board and oversize cards for all to see is much more effective than giving boards and cards to students before they understand the basic concepts of the game. If you do, you'll find that they are more of a distraction than a teaching tool.

Youth News

Helen Fields (Bennington VT) is a wonderful example of a school teacher dedicated to teaching cribbage at her school. Several months ago, she requested my teaching manual. Here is an update on her efforts. She consistently has about ten seventh-grade students a week in her cribbage club who now absolutely love the game of cribbage; four faculty members have also started to come to the club to learn (or relearn) how to play. In April, an Academic Expo took place, and her youth club set up four playing tables. Dozens of people came by and played the seventh graders. As the day progressed, some visiting students discovered that their adult chaperones were cribbage players and asked them if they could start a program at their school. So it appears Helen's efforts at the expo may have further expanded a youth movement in southwest Vermont. Way to go Helen!

If you have a youth movement going on in your area, please let me know about it. Or, if you'd like to start a movement, don't hesitate to ask for a copy of my teaching manual.

Teaching Manuals

Recent requests for youth teaching manuals were received from the following people. Watch for a youth boom in these areas!

- Barb Thomas (Chicago IL)
- Holly Schineller (Tempe AZ)

Jim's co-workers taught him to play cribbage many years ago, and he joined the ACC in 1986. He's been champion multiple times at Clubs 39 and 184, both in Pasco WA. On February 9, he took first place at Club 39, and that gave him enough points to reach Gold. A Grand Master, Jim won his first sanctioned tournament in 1986. He appreciates all the club and tournament directors who put in countless hours so others can enjoy this game. Jim also enjoys golf and all kinds of gambling.

Roger's grandfather taught him how to play cribbage, but he didn't play between ages 16 and 40. When he heard about a cribbage tournament in Denver run by Dick Graham, he played in it and joined Denver Grass Roots Club 34, which he later directed for fifteen years. He is now director of Grass Roots Region IV and has been club champion four times. Roger has incorporated some of the wisdom from the books by Colvert and Wergin and the tips by Rasmussen, Chambers, and Barlow to develop his playing style. But he's not found a strategy for defeating his toughest opponents—women! According to Roger, "they use different logic than men when playing and it gives me trouble." Roger has directed dozens of tournaments in Denver plus a cribbage cruise. He is currently organizing the Panama Canal Cribbage Cruise for January 2011 with six sanctioned tournaments. He has earned his Life Master (★) rating in tournament play. Roger's non-cribbage interests include traveling, fine dining, and friends and family.

Cribbage on the Road—there are 186 Grass Roots clubs in the United States and Canada. If you are traveling on vacation or on business, stop in and play if there is a club in the vicinity. All clubs welcome visitors from other clubs! Check it out at accgrassroots.org.

Grass Roots registration is not required during June, July, and August. Those club directors who collect Grass Roots dues early should hold onto them and not send them to their regional statistician until late August just prior to the new Grass Roots season.

Club 281 (Houston TX)—in our last tourney of the season an interesting hand developed between Gary McCuskey and Dave Hardy. Both players held 4-4-5-5, and the starter card was a 6. As dealer, Dave outpegged Gary 21-6 and counted his 24-hand after Gary's, resulting in Dave winning the pot for the last 24-hand of the night. Gary also had a 20-hand in this game, but lost anyway. In the yearlong race for club championship, Gary came out on top, with Wendy Yafuso a close second and Earl Baum third. submitted by Gary McCuskey

Club 314: Granite State Cribbers (Hudson NH) has concluded its sixth season. Leading the way with a seasonal club record of 355 GRPs was Jim Hatch. Jim took top honors with a winning percentage of .654 (also a club record) and a skunk differential of +20. Other top finishers were Al Miller (237 GRPS) and Richard Kelliher (212). A club seasonal record for 28 hands was attained: Dan Crete (two), Joe Cucchi, Greg Gougian, Theresa Clark, Sheila Crete, and Paul Statz. Al Miller won both the GRRT and GRNT. We wish fast recoveries to Don McGeouch and Gloria Lagasse. See you next September! submitted by Daniel Crete

Club 205 (Redding CA) has become a hotbed of competition. Ian Wilson and Richard Hinrichs have gone head to head all year for the club championship, with Richard finally winning it in the 35th

Rule of the Month—Winner of the Deal

Each player's cut card is the card at the bottom of the cards held in the hand, not the card on top of the remainder of the pack. The player cutting the lower-ranked card deals the first hand of the game. If both players cut a card of equal rank, the entire pack shall be reshuffled and they shall cut again. If a player exposes more than one card, that player shall cut again..

tournament, which saw 24 players competing. Seven players got 13s, and two had 15. This kind of competition has made the 2009–2010 a terrific year for our club and the basis for an even greater year in 2010–2011! We invite cribbage players to join us any Thursday night at Upper Crust Pizza in Redding at 6p. Good food, good players, and great competition! submitted by Norm Leavell

Club 202: Boise Peggers (Boise ID)—one of our most unlucky players (or so he says) achieved a rare feat. Joe Dunn held a 28-hand during weekly play on February 22, and at our next session on March 1, he scored another one! Even more amazing, he held these gems on the very first hand of the very first game both nights. Congratulations, Joe! submitted by Kathy Atwood

Club 82: Monterey Marauders (Seaside CA)—Mel Ashley is the club champion for the fourth time in the last five years! He played thirty weeks with a winning percentage of .596 and 239 GRPs. The next two highest winning percentages were earned by Chuck MacGlashan and Mike Frantz. Only one grand slam was recorded for the season: Velda Shipman. Fred Sherman had a 28-hand. Best attendance was by our oldest member (90+) Emily Huddelson, who also earned her Bronze! submitted by Christy Lens

Club 91: Grand Rapids Square Peggers (Grand Rapids MI)—it was the final game of the season, and after a combined 538 games played, club director Dave Aiken and rookie Cass Fortin were fighting for the last spot on the Michigan All Star team. Each needed one win, and to top it off they were playing each other! Winning the game by one point, old age and treachery triumphed over youthful good looks and enthusiasm! This season saw Jim Blough capture every Grass Roots honor imaginable: a grand slam, a 28-hand, a 29-hand, the club championship with a .605 batting average, and a new club record of 314 GRPs, to say nothing of earning Gold Award #6! submitted by Dave Aiken and Jim Blough

Club 154 (Oroville CA)—our final tournament of the season was held May 31, with hot dogs and beer being served. Our champion for the season, Sue Rollo, was determined to get a few more points to finish up the year. She did indeed get her points and finished at 203. We are all proud of Sue. submitted by Vaida Stevens

Club 124 (Richmond VA)—on May 26 we completed our twentieth season of Grass Roots play. With an average attendance for the year just under 15, the club has stayed consistent and vibrant for two decades now! In attendance were charter members Hugh Berry, Ron Reece, Rick Allen, Robins Buck, Jim Duresky, and Andy Hulcher. As always, the competition was tight, and memories abounded! submitted by Jim Duresky and Andy Hulcher (club cofounders)

Club 360 (Pahrump NV)—our champion was Gerry Plante, who finished the season with 224 GRPs to win first place and his name on the perpetual plaque on the wall at Wulfy's. Second place went to last year's champion, Denise Fortin, and third place was Lee Nelson. Six players had a better than .500 batting average this season, with only a .003 difference between first and second places. Lee Nelson finished with .562, and Gerry Plante with .559. Max Schmitt topped the high skunk differential list with +9. submitted by Denise Fortin CW

story by David Aiken, based on data collected
by Tom Lewis

Thirteen Grass Roots clubs (listed on page 29) responded to Tom Lewis's request for information about how they distribute the money collected in their skunk cans. Perhaps seeing the various methods used in other clubs will inspire your club to try out some new ideas.

Most clubs collect 25¢ or 50¢ from the player who is skunked, and a few clubs double the fee for a double skunk. This money accumulates in a skunk pot/jar/can (pick one), and there are three main ways to collect money from it:

- A 29-hand frequently collects everything in the skunk jar, but sometimes only half of it.
- A 28-hand usually gets half of what's in the skunk jar, but sometimes only 25%.
- A grand slam is normally worth a set amount ($25 or $35), but occasionally a percentage (50% or 100%), from either the skunk jar or the club treasury.

Here are some other items of interest culled from the emails submitted that your club may find useful:

- Some clubs allow visitors and guests to be eligible for the skunk pot payout, while most clubs do not (in which case they do not pay into the skunk can).

- Several clubs treat all hands that are eligible for skunk jar money as if they occurred at the end of the evening. This avoids a situation where someone who is eligible to collect would get nothing or very little because the skunk pot was emptied just a few minutes earlier. The total in the skunk pot is then shared between eligible hands.
- Club 175 sets a minimum win of $20 from the skunk can. If it contains less than $20, the club pays the prize, and the can is allowed to continue to grow. Club 68 has a similar policy: whenever the skunk pot is emptied, $30 is added to it from the club treasury.
- Club 306 also provides a pin for people who have a 29-hand, 28-hand, or grand slam.
- Clubs 91 and 306 pay $10 to the person who stops a grand slam in the ninth game.

One of the neatest skunk pot stories comes from Club 295 in Rochester Hills MI. Each player pays a dollar each week into a "jackpot" pool as part of their entry fee. Grand slams, 28-hands, and 29-hands are paid out of this pool.

In addition, players pay 50¢ for every skunk ($1 for a double skunk) into a separate skunk fund. At the end of the Grass Roots season, Club 295 donates this money—usually around $180—to a local charity. But last year they did something different with the skunk money.

Club member Brent Cooper (Windsor

25 Years Ago in the ACC

The cover of the July 1985 Cribbage World announced the results of the BOD election. (One can only assume that the ACC got a really good deal on the hideous brown paper used to print this issue.) ACC president and cofounder Joe Wergin (Madison WI) topped all candidates with 278 votes on 446 ballots. Other successful BOD electors who are still ACC members included Jim Fabian (Long Beach IN), Harry Palmer (West Springfield MA), Frank O'Connor (Dedham MA), and Elbert Hargesheimer Jr. (Hamburg NY).

Elsewhere in this issue, we learn that the July issue was late because CW editor Bob Madsen had undergone open-heart surgery on July 1. The current editor is happy to be following in some great footsteps!

Tom Haight wrote a short piece about whether to say “fifteen-two and two is four” or “fifteen-two and two are four.” He concluded that both forms “can be correct grammatically if not numerically.”

ON) was out of work and hoping to be a truck driver. He had just gotten home after failing the driving test when he saw an envelope on the kitchen table. It was a check from Club 295 for $500! Members added to the skunk pot, and this money allowed Brent to retake the test—and he passed! Ain’t this game fun! CW

Tips for Tournament Directors

When using the standard round-robin format, make sure you place the captain (sometimes called the anchor or pivot) on the correct side of the table. Here's how to tell if you've got it right. When you stand facing the end of the table, the captain should be in the first chair on the right side (see diagram). Why is this important? Because of the potential for pegging backward when a player turns around the end of the table. If the captain is on the left side of the table, players moving down the table to their right will play the captain as soon as they turn the corner. Since players have a greater tendency to peg backward right after moving to the other side of the table, this gives an unfair advantage to the captain.
