My Deal

by David Aiken

Just in case you've not noticed, I like playing cribbage. But like anything in life, too much of the same old thing in the same old way can get boring. So I like to mix things up a bit.

For example, after playing, say, ten tournaments in a row—all two-day affairs, with twenty-two games in the main and nine in the consolation, with the prerequisite Friday and Saturday night satellites—it's sometimes enjoyable to attend a one-day tourney, or a midweek tourney, or a match-play tourney, or a tourney in another region.

The lure of the unusual has driven me to create and direct some specialty tournaments, the GRTOC, regional batting average contests, and the ACC Challenge.

And the lure of the unusual is why I'm enthusiastic about the national PPM contest directed by Rick Shea (Eureka CA). The idea behind this contest is very simple: who averages the most MRPs at main tourneys throughout the season?

The PPM ("points per main") contest was created to Rick, in his words, "to give people a chance to compare themselves to players across the country on a more or less even playing field." You may not be able to make All American by playing in fifty tournaments a year, but average MRPs earned per main provides a good comparison of skill.

Who should enter this contest? For starters, anyone who has ever made the All American team. And anyone in the top fifty in their region. And anyone who plays twenty tournaments a year. If you play this many tourneys, there's no reason why you shouldn't enter the PPM contest.

So, do yourself a favor and enter this contest. This will give you the chance to prove that you can earn MRPs at a higher average than Tom Cookman and also show your support for one of the ACC's bright, creative TDs.

The contest rules are given on page 10 and also posted on the ACC website; log on to cribbage.org and click on the "1st Annual North American Average Points Per Main Challenge" link in the right column. Or you may contact Rick via email at lv2dve4ab@hotmail.com.

Note: while the official start of the contest is August 1, Rick will allow late entries up through August 23, provided that you report all tourneys played before that date along with their results. CW

Target practice: feel free to take aim at the CW editor whenever we play—but be careful, or your name might end up in the center column!

Wikipedia

In the July 13 CW, page 5, Paul Batterson notes the lack of information about the ACC on Wikipedia. The ACC has its own entry in Wikipedia: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/American_Cribbage_Congress. I know this because I'm a Wikipedia editor and did a substantial rewrite of the ACC entry in 2012.

Thanks

I would like to thank the members of the ACC for electing me to the Board of Directors. I realize that I am joining a dedicated group of people who have represented the members of the organization throughout the years. I hope to contribute to this effort.

Richard "Frosty" Frost (Berlin WI)

Membership

In regards to boosting membership, I believe the key to success rests on all of our Grass Roots directors nationwide to reach out to their communities—whether that's posting flyers, posting their club in the activity section of craigslist.com, using social networking sites like facebook.com, etc. As Texas Hold 'em continues to dominate the card-playing world, to bring new players into the cribbage-playing world we will have to be innovative. The ability to be innovative will always be a mark of a strong and effective leader. The promotion of growth doesn't go from the top of this organization to the bottom, but from the bottom to the top. The bigger the Grass Roots clubs are, the bigger the ACC will be.

Terrance Cushman Jr. (Portland ME)

Vote for Candidates from Your Region

In regard to the disappointing voter turnout, another factor may be that we're trying to decide who to vote for when we have never met some of the candidates. Other than the bios provided in CW, there isn't much to go on. What if the percentage of members voting in each region dictated the number of directors who were elected? What if the members voted for directors from only their region? Say there were 1,000 members in the Eastern Region and 150 voted; 3,000 members in the Western Region and 450 voted; and 2,000 members in the Central Region with 300 voting. Each region would have 15% of its members deciding who was going to run the ACC. The result would be the same percentage of directors being elected from each region (eight). We could then use the highest voting percentages to determine any remaining position(s). By limiting it to the candidates in your region, members may know them and be

The record for a nine-game tournament is 24/9 +303, set in 2000. Nolan Johnson (Madison WI)—who won the Grand National consolation last fall—ran through his opponents at American's Dairyland consolation and very nearly set a new record, with this beautiful 23/9 +258!

Tournament Tidbits

Six Star Race Here are current MRP standings and tourney wins for the ACC's only two Life Masters (6★): DeLynn Colvert (Missoula MT) and Duane Toll (Sutherlin OR):

tourney wins	MRPs
1 DeLynn 79	1 DeLynn 38,791
2 Duane 78	2 Duane 37,709

River City Open Grand Master Julie Felkins (Woodland CA) apparently doesn't need first deal to win her playoff matches. Her opponents dealt first in every playoff match, but Julie overcame this (supposed) disadvantage and prevailed in every match—including one game in which she pegged 7 holes against an opponent who was in hole 120 with first count! And what does it mean that Julie trailed two games to none before coming back in both playoff matches against women, but beat her male opponents three games to zip in rounds one, four, and five?!

Potawatomi Peggery Powwow Master Bart Jaeger (Omaha NE) barely squeaked into the main tourney playoffs as the low qualifier after posting a 26/13. And once there he was one and done, but in that short span of time, he managed to score a 29-hand in his match against Life Master (2★) Doug Page (Oostburg WI)!

American's Dairyland How's this for a crib? In her game against Curt Shawkey (Madison WI), Grand Master Nicky Kniech (Milwaukee WI) managed to deal both players a blank hand—but Nicky's crib had a double-double run!

Lake Superior Challenge Once again the magic van from Illinois made its annual trip north to Ishpeming. To refresh, last year the van made the return trip south with the first, second, third, and fifth place finishers in the main tourney. This year, John Swett (Crystal Lake IL), Fred Padjen (Spring Grove IL), Terry Weber (Madison WI), Tom Berry (Bartlett IL), Dan Selke (Arlington Heights IL), and George Stankus (Crystal Lake IL) all returned home with money, and five of them earned MRPs!

Daffodil Express Open It turned into a family affair as Rick Weichsel-dorfer (Puyallup WA) won the main, and his nonagenarian mother, Master Hazel Weichsel-dorfer (Tacoma WA), captured the consolation.

Schaefer Steinmetz Shuffle #1 That was a very nice grand slam 19/9 +120 that Master Steven Steinmetz (Caledonia WI) recorded in the consolation. Only problem is that Life Master Allen Karr (Green Bay WI) turned in 19/9 +138 for high honors!

Schaefer Steinmetz Shuffle #2 Before the start of their game, Life Master (★) Richard Frost (Berlin WI) was talking to Dale Magedanz (Milwaukee WI) about the three 28-hands Dale had dealt recently (see June CW, page 9). During their match Dale dealt Frosty four 5s—only for him to cut an Ace for a “routine” 20. Nice going, Frosty; Dale did his part!

at an early age as a way to teach him how to count. An ACC member since 1992, he was cofounder of the Baltimore cribbage club in 1993 and has been club champion eleven times, including the current season. Bruce earned his Gold Award on May 22—the last weekly tourney at his club in the 2013 Grass Roots season! He's also won twenty sanctioned events. After directing dozens of tourneys in the Baltimore area, it's only appropriate that he earned his One Star Award at his own tournament—the Maryland Summer Special—on June 30. Bruce's favorite tourneys are the TOC and the ACC Open—and no wonder:

Bruce D. Sattler

in 1996 he won the consolation of both events! Since the TOC no longer has a consolation, Bruce will go down in history as the only player to have accomplished this feat. His toughest opponents are his brother Steve (“I taught him everything that he knows but not everything that I know”) and Rick Bryant (“the closest cribbage clone that I have found to my style of play”). Bruce was recently elected to the BOD, on his very first try. His noncribbage interests are reading, playing poker, and being grandfather to Haley Jo.

ACC Awards

Roger's dad taught him to play cribbage in his youth, and he played sporadically over the course of his 28-year Air Force career. He joined the ACC in 1989, when he was stationed at Offutt AFB in Omaha NE. His brother-in-law, Gene Sissel, and wife came to visit, primarily to attend the Grand National in Des Moines IA. Since Roger fancied himself a cribbage player, he decided to join the fray but, he says, “After a few games I quickly realized there were a few things that I needed to learn!” Gene was his primary cribbage mentor, along with the cribbage classes taught by Raz Rasmussen and DeLynn Colvert's book. In 1990 Roger moved to the Seattle area and joined the Everett club and later the Federal Way club. He's earned his Silver Award and has been club champion. Roger has won several consolations, but never a main. He's also won a dozen or so doubles championships, mostly with Gene as his partner. Roger's toughest opponents are George Mackie, Jim Hornbacher, and Duane Toll (who beat him in the Grand National finals in Virginia Beach). Roger enjoys golf and cruise vacations with his wife.

Cribbage Board of the Month

BY JAY FULWIDER

The cribbage board for this month is made of Bakelite on a wood base. Considered the world's first synthetic plastic, Bakelite was developed in 1907 by chemist Leo Baekland of New York.

This particular board was made under a United States Design Patent #127,917, issued June 24, 1941, to Calvin D. Williams of (Cloquet MN) and Abner H. Nerhaugen of (Duluth MN). The board is called "The Arrow Cribbage Board" and made by the Arrow Cribbage Board Co. of Duluth MN. The arrow design was to help players stay on the right track and was the reason for the patent.

This Bakelite board was produced using a mold (see close-up photo) and fits over a wood base that allows room for card and peg storage. At first, I thought this board might be a prototype and never put into production. I was guessing that the timing of WWII might have impacted its going to production. However, my friend and fellow board collector, Peter Leach (St. Paul MN), has this board with the box and instructions, which means that the board was commercially produced. The questions now are how long did the company make boards and how many.

In the past, I have asked ACC members to let me know if they can provide any additional information on boards in my articles. Thanks to all of you who have responded. Now I hope I can get lucky with this board and that someone will be able to add to its history.

Jay Fulwider collects cribbage boards in picturesque Washington State. Ideas for and questions about this column may be sent to him at budandotis@msn.com (put "Cribbage Board" in the subject line). For more information on cribbage boards and collecting, visit cribbageboardsonline.com, the Cribbage Board Collectors Society website.

IN MEMORY OF OUR FRIENDS

Phillip H. Babcock

Phillip Babcock (Alexandria VA) passed away on April 11 at age 77. Phillip had been director of Cribbage Critters Club 89 since 1989, shortly after the club was established, and was the club's most senior member. Phillip served on the ACC's Board of Directors for five years in the 1990s. After joining the ACC in the mid-1980s, his enthusiasm for cribbage led to his joining the Grass Roots club established in Alexandria in 1988. He advanced quickly from beginner to highly skilled player, receiving his Bronze and Silver Awards while winning the club championship multiple times, and in 2012 he earned his Gold Award. Despite his many cribbage accomplishments, Phillip always thought that he was still in a learning phase and that no one ever completely mastered this game. In addition to many cribbage friends, Phillip leaves behind his wife, Mary Ellen, who traveled with him to the many tournaments and BOD meetings. He also leaves behind his brother-in-law, Donald Eastwood, still an ACC member, who introduced him to the game and with whom he played many games over the years.

Raymond H. Boesel

Ray Boesel (Plymouth WI) passed away on July 1 at age 75. He served with the United States Army from 1954 to 1956. An accomplished cribbage player, he had earned his Life Master award and was active in tournament play until the last year or so. He was a gentleman at the table and always had something nice to say. He was well known across the country and will be greatly missed.

Daniel Kizer

Dan Kizer (San Jose CA) Dan accepted a stage 4 cancer/six-months-to-live-at-most diagnosis with courage and spirit, opting to avoid suffering through months of chemo/radiation. He continued to play Grass Roots club until the Tuesday before he died. Dan played his cribbage in the same straightforward way, accepting the bad breaks of the game philosophically, committed to playing the game fairly and honestly. Dan's strongly held, vividly voiced opinions will be long remembered. The tournaments won't be nearly as much fun without him.

Jack Monroe

Jack Monroe (Napa CA) passed away July 2. For many years, Jack ran the Napa tournament at the Napa Expo. It was famous for the wine tasting at the end of the tourney. Current players still talk about it and consider it one of the best tourneys ever! In the early 1990s Jack and North Bay Rotary Club hosted a Grand National.

Recycle Cribbage World

I have an idea that probably has been suggested before, but members could be re-mindful of what to do with Cribbage World when they are done with it each month. Drop it off at barbershops, waiting rooms, or senior centers of their towns. Circle the tournaments so people notice what is being played in their area. Doing so might get new people to join or attend Grass Root and weekend tournaments. Make sure you have permission first before leaving it behind.

The President's Column

by Jeanne Hofbauer

I am now of an age where downsizing has become more important than acquisition. In other words, I need to get rid of a lot of “stuff”! So my friend Peggy Scalley talked me into participating in the yearly garage sale where she lives. I am not a hoarder, though a few of my friends have suggested that I am perhaps edging toward it. Every room in our house is easily accessed, and there are not piles of things stacked everywhere—except the family room.

I have, admittedly, surrendered our family room to storage room duty. After much nagging from husband and friends, I, knowing it is the right thing to do, have capitulated and have started the process of shedding possessions. And without any resentment whatsoever toward my antagonists! (You believe me, right?) The traumatic experience of choosing which things get kept, donated, or sold almost did me in. But I am a survivor, and I will have you know that as of now, the family room floor is actually visible! One more garage sale is in the near future, and the local thrift store employees now love me.

But, to get to the cribbage part of this story: I took three trophy cribbage boards to the sale. They were beautiful boards. I marked them at $5 and $7. Only one sold, but the main point is that this is a great way to get people to learn about the ACC!

Almost everyone knew what they were, but in general everyone said, “I used to play cribbage, but it was years ago.” I wish I had been more prepared to promote the ACC.

Next time I will be sure to have old CWs, “Cribbage Anyone?” brochures, and other info with me. So remember, if a garage or yard sale is in your future, try to use it as a chance to let people know about us. We have promotional material available; contact any board member to learn how to receive it.

The ACC has an Executive Committee to act on matters that cannot be reasonably deferred until the next Board of Directors meeting. It is subject to a written report to the Board of Directors at its meeting. The committee consists of five persons elected for a one-year term at the annual meeting in September: president, executive vice president, vice president of policy, vice president of operations, and member-at-large. They shall meet at least once, either face to face or by conference call, between each scheduled BOD meeting. The maximum amount the committee can approve for expenditure is $5,000. —Ron Logan (ljlazmt@aol.com)

Youth Teaching Tip

Do you know any high school age kids who play cribbage? If so, talk to them about teaching youth cribbage. Most high school students have community service and/or senior projects that must be done as a prerequisite to graduate. I have helped four student teachers, and all had a memorable experience while they introduced cribbage to our next generation. Any high school student interested in teaching cribbage should get in touch with me at danthefan@yahoo.com so I can set him/her up with a teaching manual and startup kit of ten cribbage boards at no cost.

Youth News

Now that Margaret Austin has taught all seven of her grandchildren how to play cribbage (her youngest is six years old), she is taking her teaching skills to the community in St. Petersburg FL. She started a cribbage club for nine- to eleven-year-olds at a local Boys and Girls Club. Austin, who has been playing cribbage for sixty years, has twice brought her granddaughter, Alejandra, cross-country from Maryland to California to play in the Sierra Youth Cribbage Tournament. In 2012, when Alejandra was nine, she took third place in the 11 and under event.

Vicki Volk is a high school Spanish teacher in Escanaba MI who contacted me about starting a cribbage club at her school about a year ago. In response to Volk's inquiry, a teaching manual and startup kit were sent to her. Now she has an active club that is so popular that the local junior high school has started a club as well! How did Volk get interested in teaching cribbage? "During the presentation of my students 'Day of the Dead' projects, several kids told me about fond memories of playing cribbage with their elderly relatives that have passed away. So I decided to start a club."

Teaching Manuals

Recent requests for youth teaching manuals were received from the following people. Watch for a youth boom in these areas!

- Amy McDonald (Neenah WI)

Dan Zeisler is founder of Sierra Youth Cribbage Tournament. Send info about youth cribbage to 530.274.3124 or danthefan@yahoo.com).
