Grand National 35

by David Aiken

Grand National is an annual cribbage tournament that rotates among the ACC's three regions every autumn. Awarded to each region in succession, it is the second largest ACC tournament held each year.

According to director Bruce Sattler, this year's Grand National, the 35th reiteration of this prestigious event, will be held on October 7–9 in North Bethesda MD. The host hotel is the Bethesda North Marriott Hotel, located at 5701 Marinelli Road in North Bethesda MD 20852 (phone: 301.822.9200).

This fun-filled week includes a 22-game midweek tourney on Wednesday and Thursday (directed by David Aiken) and eight satellite events stretching over six days.

Other events include the ACC's annual meeting on Friday at 9a (all members are welcome to attend) and the Grass Roots Tournament of Champions on Friday evening (see page 23 for more details). The ACC's annual awards banquet will be held on Saturday evening.

Some nights at the host hotel are already sold out, so arrangements have been made to house cribbage players at the nearby Cambria Hotel (301.294.2200), located

My Deal

by David Aiken

Play smart, play fair, play fast.

Okay, so I don't like you. I mean, I really, really don't like you. Pick a verb—hate, loathe, abhor, despise, claw your eyes out—those are my feelings about you. And, to be honest (although honesty generally has precious little to do with these hate-hate situations), you don't like me.

I was hoping that I wouldn't have to play you, but now I see that we are going to meet up in a couple of games. I have several courses of action.

(a) I can walk out of the tournament to avoid playing you. But I really kinda like playing this game, and I know that voluntarily leaving a tournament will result in an automatic six-month suspension from the ACC. No club play, no weekend tourneys, no cribbage for six months. An eternity for a cribbage nerd.

(b) I can give you the silent treatment. Nothing says "I hate you" like absolutely nothing at all. This falls, of course, under that thing our moms used to say: "If you can't say something nice, then say nothing at all." But it is also rather childish and immature.

(c) I can act like a spoiled brat and throw a tantrum. Name calling, throwing cards, rude behavior, comments about

"dumb luck," slurs about your ancestry—again we are back in the childish and immature arena. In any case, acting like this says more about me than it does about you.

(d) Or (why is this so often the last resort?) I can act like an adult and handle the situation in a mature fashion. No, I don't have to greet you like a long-lost friend, but I can politely say, "Good morning." Instead of mumbling under my breath, I can announce the cumulative count and my hand values in a voice loud enough for you to hear. I can shake your hand when the game is over and—regardless of who won—say, "Thank you, good game."

I do not think it is too far out of line to expect option D to be in effect every time two antagonists play. Yes, it is unreasonable to expect all 6,000+ members of the organization to get along perfectly at all times and to be BFFs. But if I, if you, if we cannot put aside our differences for fifteen minutes and sit down to play a game, then, perhaps we need to find a new hobby.

Again quoting our moms: "Play nice, kids." CW

Target practice: feel free to take aim at the CW editor whenever we play—but be careful, or your name might end up in the center column!

Letters to CW will be printed on a space-available basis and may be condensed or edited for clarity and length (150 words maximum). Send letters to cribbage@iserv.net or P.O. Box 313, Ada MI 49301-0313. Please include your name, city, and state.

Lost Montblanc Pen

I lost a black Montblanc pen at Rampart Casino Open in Las Vegas in late June, probably on Friday evening. If anyone found it, please contact me at johnaz1646@yahoo.com or 480.890.0701. The pen was a gift from someone very important to me, and I carried it for most of my working days. I will be very appreciative.

Cribbage in Maine

The work that Joseph Bowen (Dedham ME) and Dave Leissner (Carmel ME) put in to get the State of Maine to let us have our first tournament in nine years was amazing. Forty-two players participated, many stories were shared, laughs were enjoyed, and lobster was served for lunch!

Lance Browne (Portland ME)

A Bangor TV station, WLBZ, ran a story about Maine's first legal tournament in nearly a decade. To listen to the story, entitled "Cribbage Makes a Comeback in Maine," go to wlbz2.com and type "cribbage" in the search box.

Cribbage Friends

I only recently learned to play cribbage.

My friend Dustin taught me how to play when I needed to take my mind off a bad time in my life. Dustin unfortunately was taken from us way too early in a horrible accident. I miss my friend and cribbage partner. I know one day he will be waiting for me with a PBR and deal me into a new game. I have no way to express how much he helped me through life. At least whenever I pick up a deck of cards, I'll be thinking of him and smiling about all the good times I had with him.

Gimme a Skunk

I always enjoy the analysis in "My Deal." I wanted to mention my latest bout with numbers. I played the Oregon Coast Classic in early May at Chinook Winds casino, needing 33 MRPs for Grand Master. After chasing that goal for some time, I qualified with a 31-card worth 25 MRPs. That, plus 7 MRPs for first round equals 32. Dandy, but you guessed it: I went out in the first round 3-0 to my friend Ron Logan, leaving me one point shy of Grand Master. Feeling a little snake bit while playing in the Mount Saint Helen's Classic two weeks ago, I did squeak out a 29-card to finally make it. However, I lost to a newcomer

GRAND SLAM!

Tourney Tidbits

Close Finish Grand Master Bryan Gurden (Las Vegas NV) and Grand Master Artland Kaai (Costa Mesa CA) played in the last game of the Orange Crush qualifying round, and both of them needed a win to qualify. In one of those weird quirks that accompany smaller tournaments (this one had seven qualifiers), whoever won the game would be high qualifier, and whoever lost would be high nonqualifier—regardless of which player won. Bryan prevailed and his 18/9 +64 was high qualifier, while Art's 17/8 +36 was “king of the bottom.”

Fast Start Playing in his first tournament ever, Don Reinders (Covina CA) was high qualifier at the Spring US Open.

Like Daughter, Like Father Apparently inspired by the play of his daughter, Kate Milkowski (Las Vegas NV), who won her first trophy board in March, Doug Becker (Albertville MN) repeated her feat at the Rampart Open in Las Vegas in June.

3-0 in the first round, so I guess my match play needs a little work.

Absurdity

In visiting various Hall of Fame websites, one of the following absurd statements is true: (1) Joe Montana isn't in the NFL Hall of Fame; (2) Babe Ruth isn't in the MLB Hall of Fame; (3) Duane Toll isn't in the ACC Hall of Fame; or (4) Michael Jordan isn't in the NBA Hall of Fame. Which one is true?

Tom Cookman (Eureka CA)

Prohibition

The ACC needs to reduce the authority of tournament directors (TDs) in the area of prohibiting ACC members from playing in their tournaments. I agree that ACC members who receive disciplinary action from the ACC Ethics Committee should not be playing, and any ACC member who has been a disruptive influence at a cribbage tournament can be restricted from playing in one or more future events held by that TD. However, just because a TD does not like an individual or because the interaction between the individual and the TD away from ACC activities is not what the TD likes, this cannot be, nor should it be, grounds for the TD to exclude someone from their tournaments. This was a tactic during the 60s and early 70s in response to desegregation: allow the disenfranchised to join, but then prohibit their involvement. This was deemed a violation of the Civil Rights Act, and the US Department of Justice (DOJ) became involved. If a member went to court, an investigation by the DOJ could result in the end of the ACC. I recommend that if a TD does not want an ACC member to play in their tournament, then the ACC Ethics Committee make the decision. This has the effect of stopping the problem in its track. Our organization is seeing a reduction in attendees at tournaments; we need to encourage participation, not discourage it.

ACC Awards

Wayne Steinmetz
(Hartland WI)
Life Master (4★) #5

Wayne's grandmother taught him how to play cribbage, and he joined the ACC in 1990. His mentor was the late, great Warren Sondericker. Wayne is a member of Milwaukee Club 6, has been club champion twice, and has also earned his Silver Award. After his first tournament win in Stevensville MI back in the 1990s, he has won thirty-four tournaments and is the #5 rated player lifetime. Wayne's favorite tournament is the JPW/ACC Open, and his toughest opponent is Duane Toll. Noncribbage interests include fishing and golfing.

Steve's grandmother taught him how to play cribbage. He joined the ACC in 1993 and looks to the late, great Martha Fingleton as his cribbage mentor. Steve is a member of Milwaukee Club 6 and won his first tournament at Madison in 2010. His favorite tourney is Reno, and his toughest opponent is Jerry Gruber. Steve's favorite cribbage moment this year was getting a 28-hand in a playoff game and winning the match. Steve also enjoys fishing and playing poker.

Steven Steinmetz
(Caledonia WI)
Grand Master #387

Tom Briski
(Fond Du Lac WI)
Grand Master #393

Tom learn to play cribbage by watching others play. He joined the ACC in the late 1990s and is a member of Club 370 in Omro WI. He has been club champion once and has won six weekend tourneys. His cribbage mentor is Wayne Steinmetz, his toughest opponent is Don Flesch, and his favorite tournament is the Yoooper Classic. Tom also enjoys hunting, fishing, camping, attending grandchildren's school functions, and watching sports.

New Cribbage Masters

- 927. Frank E. Hanson (Spokane WA)

Mathew started playing cribbage fifty-five years ago when he saw some people playing. Being a numbers person, he thought it would be fun to develop the skills needed for this game. He joined the ACC in 2001. His two cribbage mentors were Emil Chrabaszcz and Bill Medeiros, both now deceased. Mathew is a member of Club 72 in Longmeadow MA, which Bill convinced him to join; he has earned his Bronze Award. Mathew has won nine sanctioned tournaments, and he earned his Grand Master rating at his favorite—the Live Free or Die tourney in Nashua NH. His toughest opponent is Armand Hamel. One of his favorite cribbage memories is traveling with Emil to the Pawtucket RI tourney in 2007, where Emil won the main and Mathew the consolation. Mathew enjoys metal detecting, saltwater fishing, and gardening.

Cribbage Board of the Month

BY JAY FULWIDER

In the past, I have mentioned that I like leather boards and that they are my favorites to collect. Thanks to that article, I heard from two ACC members, Todd Ross and Rich Orto, who also like leather boards. In fact, they both designed their own boards. This month I am featuring Todd's board and will follow next month with Rich's board.

Todd (CO-681) designed and made this "belt board" for his father, who taught him cribbage when he told him about Todd's belt board. Rich thought that "if you got up while playing, you might lose your pants." I figure it is worth that chance in order to always have a cribbage board available. Thanks, Todd, for the photo and story of a unique board.

The second board this month was made here in Auburn WA. John Silas of Hardwood Specialties used twelve different hardwoods from several different countries around the world. I had previously seen these boards at Seattle's Pike Place Market. They are beautiful, but were out of my price range.

So how did I get this board? Here is the story: In June, Cribbage World editor David Aiken visited the Pacific Northwest. He spent two nights with us, and we attended two Grass Roots club tournaments. Dave got first place at the Sea-Tac Peggers, and I got fifth. Our traveling companion, Bill Urlevich, took home the last 24 pot. The next night at the Kitsap Peggers, we ran out of luck but had a great time.

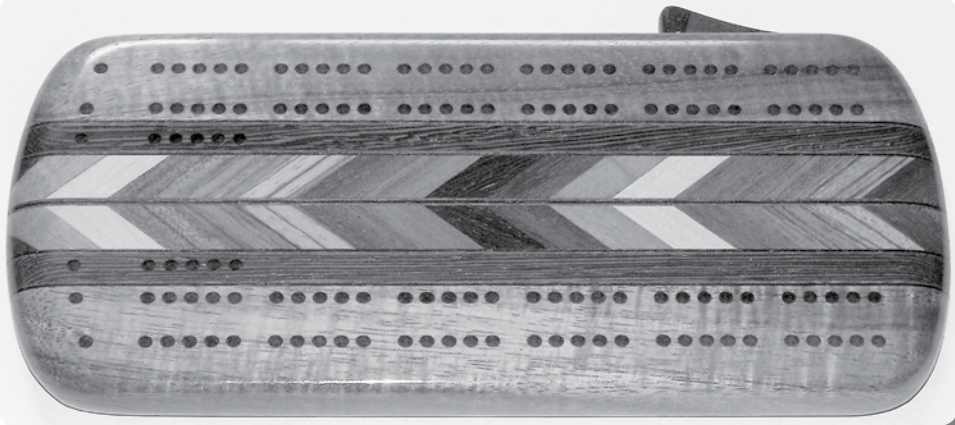

was young. Todd is also a board collector and has around forty boards. His favorite board belonged to his grandfather.

I have to pass on an observation that Rich (NY-667) emailed after I

Since Dave is also a board collector, we decided to visit a large antique mall south of Seattle. As Jay Fulwider collects cribbage boards from his home in picturesque Washington State, where he also enjoys golf, fishing, and racquetball. His philosophy on the key to life: "Just keep your pegs moving." Ideas for and questions about this column may be sent to him at budandotis@msn.com (put "Cribbage Board" in the subject line).

we went in, I said to Dave, “You go right and I’ll go left.” After just a moment, I heard: “Cribbage? I used to play that with my grandfather.” I rounded the corner as a vendor was removing this board from its carry bag. It was made in December 1998 and was like new. It was $20. Sorry, Dave, that you went right. CW

Editor’s note: I have filed a complaint with the Ethics Committee informing them that Jay deliberately tricked me into going to the right. In lieu of monetary damages, I am asking for one-half of the board in question.

The Inside Track
by Rob Medeiros

Always pay attention to your opponent’s mannerisms throughout the course of a game. Do they get quiet when they get a good cut? Do they complain when they get dealt a bad hand? Do they seem frustrated when you trap them in a pegging sequence? All these factors can have a big impact on fourth street play and your decisions to play offense or defense. Obviously there are good players who will try to trick you by looking aggravated while having a big hand, but in general most players give information away, so be alert and be ready to capitalize!

The President's Column

by Jeanne Hofbauer

You know the saying, "Show me a good loser, and I'll show you a loser." What nonsense that is! Let's face it, no one likes to lose. But think about how this could result in a lot of unhappiness among cribbage players. For instance, in one-on-one matches, 50% of us would be miffed. Then in a qualifying round, where only one-fourth of the field qualifies, that would result in 75% being displeased! In a playoff round of 32, 31 would harbor resentment, a whopping near 97%! Thank goodness, we do not have too many sore losers!

In sports, you see athletes acting out all the time. But for every one of them who cries, there are many more who just accept defeat as part of the job and go on with confidence in their own ability to play and win on another day. Their pride keeps them from acting like spoiled brats.

When you go to a casino and play the slot machines, for example, do you pitch a fit when the machine takes your money? Would you get mad at the machine and let it know about it? Probably not, as that would attract security and guarantee a quick and embarrassing exit from the premises.

Lots of you play poker or other card games. When you lose, would you make a scene or say something really mean to your opponent(s)? Unless you were kidding, you probably would not. It would diminish you in the eyes of your fellow players.

No one wants to play with crybabies. Oh sure, everyone gets a "bad beat" occasionally, and when that happens whining is understood. But most of the time, you should be prepared to accept the fact that losing is part of the game.

So, is there such a thing as a "good loser"? I think there is, but the proper term would probably be a "gracious loser." Not commenting about an opponent's lack of skill, or their getting every cut, or never having a bad hand could be a start.

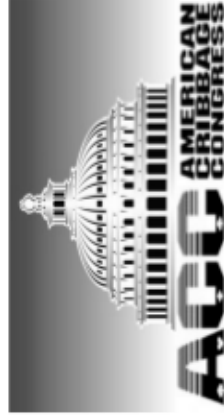

So, choose to maintain your dignity in defeat. Be a class act, a worthy adversary.

Kelly Ann Burger (lil_thummp) is the new leader. The standings are still shifting around, and there is still plenty of time to catch her.

Congratulations to Mike Fetchel (mfetchCT425) on becoming the first online player to reach the Life eMaster (★)—10,000 IRPs.

The online internet team is working with Game Colony to bring back some tournaments at their site. The time line is unknown right now.

Player of the Month

With a total of 89 IRPs and two wins, the June player of the month is Don Grumpy Howard (GrumpyDopey7).

IN MEMORY OF CRIBBAGE FRIENDS

Donald Haller

Donald Haller (Lake Linden MI) charter member of Grass Roots Club 333 in Tamarack MI, passed away on June 27, after a short illness, at age 63. Donny was a very good cribbage player, winning the club championship five times. He also had perfect attendance for many years. He displayed good sportsmanship in his cribbage play and helped other players. He will be greatly missed by fellow club members. He leaves behind three sons that he taught cribbage, two of which have been ACC members.

Dennis McNurlen

Dennis McNurlen (Grinnell IA) passed away at age 70 in late June. Dennis was a US Navy veteran who served on the USS Constellation during the Vietnam War; he was a member of the American Legion and Eagles. A member of Club 17 in Des Moines, he had earned both his Bronze Award and Master rating. Dennis was a fun gentleman on the cribbage board. He enjoyed family events, his dogs, and following the Golden Rule even after his death through the Iowa Donor Network.

Raymond Richard Wanke

Ray Wanke (Saint Cloud FL) was born in New York in 1931 and grew up in Vermont. He earned a degree from Castleton Teachers College in Castleton VT and spent much of his career teaching in Connecticut. After he and his wife, Nancy, retired from teaching, they bought a forty-foot fifth-wheeler and spent nineteen years traveling the continent, visiting every American state and every Canadian province. After settling down in Florida, Ray and Nancy directed a Grass Roots club in Kissimmee and hosted three or four tournaments a year for more than ten years. Ray had earned his Silver Award and was nearing his Master rating. He is survived by Nancy and his brother, Donald, both of them ACC members.

Youth Teaching Tip

A new school year is right around the corner! What a great time to go to your local educational institution and talk to teachers about incorporating a cribbage unit into their math curriculum. The first step is contacting the principal of the school and asking for permission to speak with the teachers. Perhaps there is an August staff meeting you can go to and offer a five-minute presentation on the benefits of teaching cribbage to their students. If you have no luck, you can try another approach. Find out whether you can come in and do an after-school enrichment class for any interested kids. Once again, the principal is who you need to speak with. When approaching the principal of any school, it is a good idea to have a copy of my teaching manual with you as it will show an outline of how you plan to teach the class. To request a manual, email me at danthefan@yahoo.com.

Youth News

Bill and Bambi Klem conducted their annual year-end cribbage tournament at Lakewood High School in Tulalip WA. This year, two events held were: one for seniors and the other for underclassmen. The senior tournament featured a pancake breakfast, and all players received a long board as a graduation gift. The champ was Nick Hoisinton, who was also top finisher in last year's tournament. The underclassmen received a pizza lunch as they battled. Zane Kresge won this year's first place trophy board. Bill and Bambi note that they have as much fun teaching cribbage as the students do playing. Keep up the great work you two!

Five in a line makes nine

In keeping with one of the persistent themes in these pages—that recognizing hands is faster/easier/better/more accurate than counting them—here is a little ditty to help: “Five in a line makes nine.”

Any five-card run with a 6 is always worth 9 points. Every one of these hands (there are five of them) is composed of exactly two 15-2s and exactly one five-card run. Add 'em all up, and you get nine points—each and every time.

It doesn't matter which four cards you hold, if you cut to a five-card run with a 6 in it, guess what? Ya got yerself nine points.

hand	15-2s	the run	total
2-3-4-5-6	$\begin{matrix} 2-3-4-6 \\ 4-5-6 \end{matrix}$	+ 2-3-4-5-6	= 9 points
3-4-5-6-7	$\begin{matrix} 3-5-7 \\ 4-5-6 \end{matrix}$	+ 3-4-5-6-7	= 9 points
4-5-6-7-8	$\begin{matrix} 4-5-6 \\ 7-8 \end{matrix}$	+ 4-5-6-7-8	= 9 points
5-6-7-8-9	$\begin{matrix} 6-9 \\ 7-8 \end{matrix}$	+ 5-6-7-8-9	= 9 points
6-7-8-9-10	$\begin{matrix} 6-9 \\ 7-8 \end{matrix}$	+ 6-7-8-9-10	= 9 points

The only exception to this rule occurs when a flush is present, in which case the hand will be worth 13 or 14 points. CW

25 Years Ago in the ACC

The cover of the August 1991 Cribbage World announced that Bill McCammon (Incline Village NV) won the 314-player Independence Day Classic at the Sands in Reno. Now no longer with us, Bill continued to play fifteen-minute games into his 90s and was sharp as a tack.

Elsewhere we read that Mick Michaelis (Marionette WI) won his second consecutive Lewis and Clark Classic in Yankton SD and (future HOF-er) Rit Alkas (Manchester CT) won the Cape Cod Extra in East Wareham MA. And on page 11, we see that ACC membership crossed the 6,000-player threshold for the first time.

We are adding info regularly to the Grass Roots Facebook page: facebook.com/GrassRootsCribbage/. So keep an eye on this page for the latest info about Grass Rots clubs and players from around the continent.

Stone Street Players Club 161 (Bellingham MA) member Richard West scored a grand slam, and Marcel Brisson scored the only 29-hand this season (his first).

We received sad news about the loss of a heralded club: the home club of former ACC president Ev Bey in Quincy CA. The club has gone through some changes, the players voted to not play ACC rules, and therefore members who wanted GRPs had to go to the Reno club to play. Doug Rodriguez will be opening another club in Graeagle, about fifty miles away.

One of the longest-running rivalries in cribbage is the Club 120 vs. Club 199 tournament in north central Wisconsin. Patrick Barrett and Al Lindner started these clubs about sixty miles apart and decided to play a yearly match between the top ten players from each club. Each club alternatively hosts the event, and a traveling trophy is held each year by the winning team. Twenty-one years later, Wisconsin Rapids Club 120 holds a slight lead with twelve wins.

GRTOC

The eleventh annual Grass Roots Tournament of Champions will be held on Friday, October 7, in Bethesda MD, in conjunction with Grand National 35. Anyone who had been club champion in the past three years (that is, the Grass Roots seasons concluding on May 31 in 2014, 2015, and 2016) have earned the right to play in this tournament.

Club champions must preregister in order to play this invitation-only tournament. Please make sure that your email address is up to date, as invitations will be emailed in mid-August. If you do not have email, please put your club director's email address on file with the ACC membership secretary.

For more details, contact GRTOC director David Aiken (cribbage@iserv.net or 616.401.8311).

Michelle's grandmother taught her to play cribbage, and she joined the ACC in 1990. Her father, Roger Farran (an ACC member until his passing), was her cribbage mentor. A longtime member of Club 71 in Grand Rapids, Michelle has been club champion many times. This past year, however, was a rough one.

Michelle Gryka
(Grand Rapids MI)
Gold #67

Michelle was in contention for the championship, but missed weeks 30–35 due to health reasons. When she returned to club on the final week of the season, she did not know that she needed only 2 GRPs in order to make Gold. Other players kept looking at her scorecard to see if she had gotten 12 GRPs yet, but she just assumed it was because they wanted to make sure they stayed ahead of her. When she hit 12 points for the night and the announcement was made, she was as surprised as anyone! Michelle's toughest opponents are Jeff Shimp, Sue Schenk, Brenda Carson, and Sally Henderson. Michelle enjoys her grandchildren, vacations with her family, and traveling with her boyfriend Greg. Michelle is writing a book (in her mind) entitled Contact Cribbage. For many years she has been telling her opponents that they are gonna be a chapter in it if they beat her. "Thank goodness," she says, "they know I am joking around"—but is she really?!

Eight Michigan Grass Roots clubs competed in the twelfth annual Michigan All Star Tournament on July 16: Grand Rapids (Club 71), Muskegon (229), Rochester Hills (295), Battle Creek (300), Kalamazoo (321), Mt. Pleasant (329), Jackson (332), and Bergland (390). The top four players from each of these clubs (top four by batting average—not GRPs) came to Grand Rapids and played twenty-eight games against the other seven clubs. This was the first MAST appearance by Bergland, and they finished with a strong second, outpaced by Muskegon by only seven points. Members of the winning team were Jeff Shimp (Grand Haven), John Ruffilo (Muskegon), Zane Holcomb (Muskegon), and Rick Wallenstein (Muskegon). The top three individual players were Dave Gerke (Battle Creek, with a 42-card), Bernard Brentar (Bergland, with 41), and Zane Holcomb (Muskegon, with 39). This was Muskegon's fourth MAST victory.
